U.S. TROOPS ENTER PYONGYANG

Half Of Korea's Red Capital Is Already Held

Cautious Policy Is Being Mapped For Far East

Plans Being Made To Prevent Any Border Incidents

By DARRELL GARWOOD
(I. N. S. Staff Correspondent)

WASHINGTON, Oct. 19 — The U. S. mapped a policy of caution toward China and Russia in the Far East today despite Gen. MacArthur's belief that neither of the big Communist countries will intervene in Korea.

Administration leaders indicated that in order to avoid a possible incident the northward drive of U. S. forces in Korea will be checked short of Manchuria and Soviet Siberia.

To Withdraw Fleet

They reiterated that as soon as the Korean fighting ends the U. S. Seventh Fleet will be withdrawn from its patrol around the island of Formosa. The officials said that these measures were discussed in the Wake Island meeting between President Truman and Gen. MacArthur, and that "complete accord" was reached.

Sen. Knowland (R) Calif., meanwhile, denounced the "anonymous" press conference held in Washington yesterday to "fill in" newsmen on what happened at Wake.

Knowland asserted.

"As a member of the Senate Armed Services Committee, I demand that in fairness to the American people and to Sen. Douglas MacArthur the full text of the 'anonymous' press conference notes be cabled to MacArthur in Tokyo.

Should Have Facts

"We should have the facts from the participants rather than through second-hand leaks by officials who accompanied the president but did not sit in on the Truman-MacArthur private meeting.

"These partial facts may or may not express accurately the understanding, if any, relative to Formosa reached at Wake Island."

Famed Dionne Quintuplets Making New York Visit

NEW YORK, Oct. 19—(INS)—Canada's five little look-alikes took over today in New York for a round of parties, sight-seeing trips and good times—but it added up to one big problem for their papa Dione.

On the famed quintuplets' arrival in the city last night for their first visit, their father found himself lacking a few fingers—six, to be exact.

For with the quints on their first trip to the big city came their 11 schoolmates from the Villa Notre Dame Convent near the Dionne family's Callander, Ont., home.

But actually papa Dionne's main problem isn't just a lack of a few fingers. After all, he's been used to counting 14 children of his own with just the normal number of digits.

His big problem right now is—lipstick.

When the quints' New York trip first was planned, reports said the five little 16-year-olds — Marie, Cecile, Emilie, Annette and Yvonne—would be permitted to wear lipstick for their entrance into the big city. But it wasn't in sight.

Sentence On Gold Delayed

(BULLETIN)

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 19. —(INS)—Sentencing of pudgy Harry Gold, 39-year-old research chemist accused of funneling atomic secrets to Russia, was postponed in federal court today until December 7.

The mild-mannered Gold, self-confessed "courier" for Dr. Klaus Fuchs, British scientist now serving 14 years in prison for treason, was to have learned his fate this morning but the government requested a continuance in the case.

Judge James P. McGranery granted the request after Gold's counsel, John D. M. Hamilton, former Republican national chairman, did not oppose the government's motion.

Hurricane Is Diminishing

VALDOSTA, Ga., Oct. 19—(INS)—The dying remnants of a Florida hurricane moved into Georgia, South Carolina and Alabama to today with winds up to 50 miles an hour.

The storm that left three dead, hundreds homeless and damaged estimate at well over ten million dollars after it cut a path through Florida was dying away in squalls today.

Warnings were lowered from Stewart, Fla., to Brunswick, Ga., but northeast storm warnings remained up north to Brunswick to Hatteras, N. C.

The miami weather bureau located the center of the disturbance at 4:30 a.m. (EST) at short distance east of Albany, Ga. It was moving north-northwestward or northwestward about 17 miles an hour.

Squalls were expected to continue through South Carolina, central and north Georgia and Alabama, and off the coasts of Georgia and South Carolina today.

Buffer Zone Being Planned

U. N. Forces To Halt 40 Miles Short Of Manchurian Border

(BULLETIN)

EIGHTH U. S. ARMY HEADQUARTERS IN KOREA, Oct. 19. —(INS)—An Eighth Army spokesman said tonight there is "a definite plan" to halt advancing United Nations forces above Pyongyang and create a 40-mile wide "buffer" zone between UN troops and Communist China's Manchurian border.

The plan, the spokesman said, was devised in an effort to avoid possible border incidents with Chinese Communists who have already protested the bombing of their territory by American planes.

No-Man's Land

The spokesman admitted that the rapid advance o fthe ROK (Republic of Korea) capitol division up the east coast north of Hamhung may make it difficult to halt them at a designated line.

Sponsors of the plan envision a kind of temporary no-man's land beyond which UN troops would not try to exert authority.

The length of time such a buffer zone would exist would depend on the ultimate UN agreement on the entire Korean problem and Communist China's acceptance of the extinction of the North Korean Soviet state.

Drafted Men Leaving Soon

Men who have been called up for induction in the October draft, will be inducted on October 31, it was stated today by officials of the county Selective Service Boards.

Each of the two local boards in the county have been asked to furnish 30 men in the October call, but this number may be slightly reduced for men who will be deferred for legitimate reasons, it is stated.

The men will be sent to Pittsburgh, where they will be sworn into service and later will leave for a training camp in the eastern area.

Frank Romeo of Watervliet, N. Y., was killed instantly when he was thrown from the cab of the locomotive.

The engineer of the westbound North Star, Frank J. Ronay, of Menands, died later in a hospital.

Report Proves False

The engine and four passenger cars of the New York to Buffalo train lurched from the rails and ripped up 1,000 feet of track blocking the main line.

Through trains from New York to the west were re-routed over the West Shore railroad and mail and express trains were cancelled.

Railroad officials said the lines would not be cleared up until about midnight.

Invite Russia To Share In 'Peace Patrol'

Western Bloc Nations Will Give Russia Chance To Join

By PIERRE J. HUSS
(I. N. S. Staff Correspondent)

LAKE SUCCESS, N. Y., Oct. 19. —Seven western bloc nations will invite Russia today to participate in a "peace patrol" commission aimed at smashing aggression.

A final decision on inviting the Soviet and probably communist Czechoslovakia to join the 14-member panel is expected at the UN before the political committee meets at 3 p. m. (EST) for a concluding vote on the "united action for peace" resolution.

This blueprint for preserving peace by force if necessary was approved overwhelmingly in the political committee last night in paragraph by paragraph voting. The affirmative votes on key operative provisions ranged from 47 to 55 out of a total of 60.

Only the five Soviet bloc nations stood in opposition, although Russian Foreign Minister Andrei Vishinsky accepted the "peace patrol" group in principle.

Seven Sponsoring Nations

The seven sponsoring nations of the anti-aggression plan originally introduced by U. S. Secretary of State Dean Acheson are Canada, France, the Philippines, Britain, Turkey, Uruguay and the United States. Their consultations are taking place under the chairmanship of American delegate John Foster Dulles, who steered the resolution through the committee.

Although Vishinsky's acceptance of an invitation to join in the

City Tax On Amusements Is Considered

It was learned from an authoritative source today that city council anticipates levying a City Amusement tax in order to derive sufficient revenue to meet budget requirements of 1951. Through the imposition of such a tax, it is believed approximately $60,000, may be realized.

A definite decision relative to the levying of such a tax has not yet been made. However, it is known that council has in budget meetings discussed such a tax and anticipate such.

Under the constitution of the State of Pennsylvania, the city can tax anything not taxed by the state.

The federal government imposes a federal tax on amusements, but excepting for one or more sports, the state does not.

It is reported the state does not impose a tax on tickets to football games.

It is said no state tax is imposed on baseball tickets.

A levy of five per cent state tax, plus a federal tax, is paid on wrestling and boxing tickets.

RUINS OF PLANE IN MYSTERY CRASH

—Acme Telephoto

ADEN, VIRGINIA—In a freak accident three F86 jet fighter planes crashed, almost simultaneously, about 35 miles southwest of Washington. Two of the jets reportedly spun into the Potomac river while the third, shown above, crashed in a field. The pilot of the plane above was found wandering in a dazed condition near his crashed plane and taken to a hospital. The fate of the other two pilots is still unknown.

Hunt Two Missing Planes And Pilots In Crashes

WASHINGTON, Oct. 19—(INS)—An armada of 50 aircraft was assigned today to search for two missing F-86 jet fighters and their pilots, involved in a mysterious three-plane formation crash yesterday.

The 50 planes, military and civil air patrol, were given the task of scanning the area where the two jets might have fallen.

The third plane, piloted by Second Lieut. Luther C. Barcus, Jr., 22, of Spring Lake, N. J., crash-landed near Manassas, Va., and Barcus walked away from it, despite a fractured leg and shock.

Before he was put under the influence of opiates by doctors from the Quantico, Va., Marine Corps hospital, Barcus told an incoherent story of the planes crashing in water.

It was thought he might have referred to either the Potomac River, which is the border between Virginia and Maryland in that section, or Lake Jackson, the only body of water of any size near Manassas.

Officers from Andrews field, home of the planes, were mystified as to the cause of the crash, which occurred in good weather with the planes adequately fueled. They were anxious to question Barcus as soon as doctors would let them.

U. S. Tells U. N. Planes Strafed Russian Area

BULLETIN

LAKE SUCCESS, N. Y., Oct. 19 —(INS)—The United States informed the United Nations today that the American Air Force "mistakenly" strafed Russian territory recently.

The United States admission on violation of Soviet territory came in a letter delivered at the United Nations signed by American delegate Warren Austin.

The incident concerns a formal protest filed by the Soviet government on October 10 that two American fighter planes had violated the Soviet-Korean border by strafing an airport sixty miles inside Soviet territory.

Tells How U. S. Forces Swept Into Capital

By JOHN RICH
(I. N. S. War Correspondent)

PYONGYANG, Oct. 19.—The U S. first cavalry division—first to enter Manila and Tokyo some five years ago—swept into Pyongyang today to become the first UN force to reach the North Korean capital.

The battle-toughened American troopers, supported by rocket-launching Mustang fighters, came to grips with an enemy rear guard force defending the city.

The Mustangs worked over the Red capital, dropping napalm fire bombs on hastily erected enemy road blocks. Entire blocks in the southeast sectors of the city burst into flames.

The first cavalry and the South Korean first division linked up Thursday night to secure almost all of the eastern section of the city.

Troops of the eighth ROK (Republic of Korea) division also pushed into the capital from the east, cutting off all communist escape roptes except the main northern travel artery.

Bridges Blown Up

First cavalry troopers reported that all bridges across the Taedong river—which bisects Pyongyang—had been blown up by retreating Reds fleeing toward the west and northern sections of the capital.

American troops raced up the east bank of the river to gain an effective hold on that entire sector. As the cavalrymen advanced on the run they fired point blank into buildings they passed in an effort to rout out Red snipers.

Pyongyang itself presented a strangely macabre sight as Ameri-

Inquest Held In Auto Death

Coroner's Jury Finds Testimony Conflicting In Ellwood Fatality

After hearing the testimony produced in the death of Hiram A. Bookamer, of R. D. 1, New Castle, who was fatally injured when struck by an auto driven by Eugene V. Morabito, of 315 Fountain avenue, on Route 351, a mile west of Ellwood City, at 12:45 a.m., October 1, the coroner's jury recommended that further investigation be made of the case, inasmuch as the testimony seemed very conflicting. The inquest was held before Coroner Charles E. Allen in the council rooms of the city building at Ellwood City, Wednesday evening.

Dr. H. E. Helling, who pronounced Mr. Bookamer dead, stated that his examination revealed a fracture of the cervical vertebrae and a fracture of the skull, either of which would have produced death.

Resistance Of Enemy Being Stamped Out

Expect To Control Entire Capital In Next 24 Hours

By HOWARD HANDLEMAN
(Far Eastern Director, I. N. S.)

TOKYO, Oct. 20—(Friday) American and South Korean troops captured the eastern half of North Korea's Red capital of Pyongyang Thursday and front line officers said all enemy resistance in the city would be stamped out within 24 hours.

Famed U. S. First Division cavalrymen, first to enter Manila and Tokyo in World War II, were first into the 3200 year old North Korean capital. They were followed by the South Korean First Division and then the South Korean Eighth Division.

Both of Pyongyang's airdromes, one north and the other south of the capital, also were captured by the United Nations troops. First Cavalry units drove across the Taedong river which bisects Pyongyang. Sections of the city were in flames from rocket and bombing attacks by Allied planes.

North Korea's Premier Kim Il Sung and his government apparently fled toward Red China's Manchurian border, less than 100 miles distant.

Maj. Gen. Frank Milburn, First Corps commander, was quoted in a front dispatch by INS War Correspondent Irving Levine as saying:

"I shall have dinner tomorrow night in Pyongyang."

Fire of Defenders Diminishes

Enemy mortar and sniper fire was heavy on the southeast side of the Taedong river but diminished as the United Nations troops punched deeper toward the heart of the city despite some bitter house to house fighting.

An Eighth U. S. Army spokesman announced "a definite plan" to halt advancing United Nations forces above Pyongyang and create a 40-mile wide "buffer" zone between UN troops and Communist China's Manchurian border.

The plan was devised, the spokesman said, to avoid possible border incidents with Chinese Communists.

Meanwhile, on the North Korean east coast the South Korean Capital (Seoul) division pounded farther north to reach Tokhung, 15 miles north of the captured industrial and rail center of Hamhung. This advance placed the South Koreans within 90 miles of the Manchurian border and 215 miles of Soviet Siberia.

Pace Smash Into Pyongyang

U. S. First Cavalry division troops, pacing a smash into Pyongyang by three United Nations divisions, crossed the wide Taedong from its southeast to northwest bank Thursday evening following an afternoon of heavy street fighting.

Thus, the Americans deeply penetrated the core of the enemy's capital where the Taedong slants through the middle of the

Second Group Makes Tour Of Power Plant

Municipal, county and township officials from Lawrence, Mercer and part of Beaver counties attended an inspection tour at Pennsylvania Power company's New Castle plant last evening. The tour was held in observance of Pennsylvania Week and was for the purpose of inspecting the present plant and the $12,500,000 addition to the plant which has been under construction since July of 1949.

After the tour the group gathered in the plant's assembly room where P. G. Dingledy, assistant to the president of the company greeted them and explained the company's growth and development in the past years. He also explained the expansion program and the fact that this development like many others in the county today, is financed by investors' money and not that of the taxpayers. Mr. Dingledy also reviewed the growth of the present plant from its erection in 1939 when it had a capacity of 40,000 kilowatts.

Another Tour Tonight

In 1947 a second unit was installed which brought the capability of the plant to 88,000 kilowatts. When the present addition is completed and the unit installed an additional 85,000 kilowatts will be available for the company's customers. This power supply should prove ample for the district's great industrial progress due to rearming and today's high residential use.

Tonight another tour will be held for the clergymen of the area starting at 8 o'clock. On Saturday morning at 11 school principals and science teachers will visit the plant. A public inspection tour will be held on Sunday afternoon from 2 to 5 o'clock.

to talk. They simply looked at each other and giggled shyly.

So newsmen asked papa Dionne about the lipstick. He retorted: "Look at them. Are they wearing lipstick?"

Then he explained:

"You hear a lot of things that aren't true."

The girls' host, Francis Cardinal Spellman, greeted them as they stepped from their private railroad car into the hubbub that 2,500 welcome-minded New Yorkers can produce.

When the girls—most famous sister team in the world—reached the platform, each knelt and kissed Cardinal Spellman's ring. Then it took them nearly a half hour to walk through the station and board a bus for a brief trip through the glitter of Manhattan's Times Square. The girls—with their classmates — spent the night at Cathedral Convent.

The black-haired hazel-eyed "daughters of Canada" came to New York primarily to attend the Alfred E. Smith Memorial banquet at the Waldorf-Astoria tonight.

They will share honors with vice-president Alben W. Barkley and New York Gov. Thomas E. Dewey. The Dionnes and their 11 classmates will sing at the dinner —"God Bless America," "Trees," "Sidewalks of New York"—and one of Manhattan's favorite French songs—"Les Troitoires Des New York."

Shy Astonishment

NEW YORK, Oct. 19.—(INS)—Canada's five famous young ladies, the Dionne quintuplets, got their first inkling today of how New Yorkers treat celebrities—and responded with shy astonishment and big smiles.

By 9 a. m. more than 100 persons had gathered in front of St. Patrick's Cathedral convent as the quints sat down to their first American breakfast of grapefruit, scrambled eggs and bacon, toast and hot chocolate.

The interest of the crowd was so great that a nun went to a window and explained:

"They are eating a leisurely breakfast. It should be a lesson to us all in eating. They eat so slowly."

"Bingo Is Illegal"

Asked about Bingo, Mr. White stated:

"Bingo is illegal.

"The Supreme Court of Ohio has handed down an opinion concerning a Cleveland ordinance, holding that Bingo is unconstitutional.

"Therefore, one cannot tax a gambling business" after which Mr. White asserted:

"The gambling business is ruining our country. Gambling cannot be recognized. However, the federal government taxes it, but the government has no conscience."

"How about slot machines?" Mr. White was qusestioned. (They recently were ordered removed from clubs.)

"Under the mercantile tax law, the cost of regulating them, under police power, has existed."

Budget Not Completed

Council, as yet, has not completed the budget.

Today it was stated that council has not yet agreed on how much salary increase the city employes will receive.

There has been talk of five per cent, and also 10 per cent.

City employes want their wage increased, at least $20.80, a month.

One attache of city hall who refused permission of his name today advised Finance Director Albert A. Hoyland that, if the city property tax was raised from 10 to 12 mills, the budget requirements could be met.

He pointed out when the wage tax was imposed the property tax was dropped from 15 to 10 mills. He said that on a home valued at $4,000, the extra two mills would amount to $8, a year.

The proposal has not yet been laid before council budgeteers.

can and South Korean troops pushed through the charred streets of the eastern section after enemy barricades had felt the flame of fire-bombs and rockets.

No Greeting Given

There were no falgs, no crowds waiting to greet the triumphant United Nations forces come to liberate the capiatl.

I did not see more than a handful of civilians—all of them frightened and uncommunicative—in the first few hours after the cavalrymen broke through.

The hollow echo of a squad sergeant's whispered order to his men was occasionally heard as we moved through the streets. But the quiet was suddenly broken by the brisk crackling of machine-gun fire or the drum-like burst of a rocket from above. Then the city was momentarily quiet again even as yellowish flames spiralled noiselessly into the evening sky.

This correspondent landed at Pyongyang after getting a view from the air of the dramatic advance of the cavalrymen into the key communist city.

I personally watched the cavalrymen storm into the their third enemy capital. From an L-5 fighter director plane I saw the veteran American GI's cross a small creek southeast of Pyongyang and move into a dingy factory district shortly before noon.

When we left the area at 12:30 p. m. (10:30 p. m. Wednesday EST) South Korean troops were still two miles east of the city.

The Americans rolled swiftly up to the outskirts of the city, where an extensive series of roadblocks, trenches and heavy firing indicated a bitter battle before the capital is secured.

city from northeast to southwest.

Some 5,000 North Korean troops were captured inside Pyongyang as the tank-tipped First Cavalry forces pounded up the Taedong's southeast side in fighting from house to blazing house, then linked up with the South Korean First division.

The latter had slammed into Pyongyang from the east following the American entry into the centuries old metropolis from the south. These South Korean troops captured the city's main airdrome on the southeast outskirts.

Later Thursday afternoon the ROK (Republic of Korea) Eighth division entered Pyongyang from the northeast after seizing the city's second airfield and cutting all enemy escape routes except the road leading north via Sunchon to Manchuria.

Poised to Enter

On the red capital's south and southwest edges, the battle-hardened U. S. 24th Infantry division as well as British and Australian troops were poised to enter Pyongyang and reinforce the final storming assault to seize the rest of the city.

Levine's pre-midnight front dispatch said that by Thursday night the opposition of Pyongchang's defenders in the capital's eastern portion had faded to sniping and sporadic mortar fire.

In the preceding afternoon hours the reds had used artillery, truck-mounted anti-tank guns, anti-aircraft batteries and numerous machine guns as well as mortars and small arms fire. Planes attacking enemy strong points in the eastern half of the city set fire to entire blocks of red-infested buildings.

The mechanized American First Cavalry troops crossed the Taedong "in force" aboard an impromptu raft ferry, Levine related.

Previously, a spearhead First Cavalry unit had reached the big rivers' northwest bank, only to be cut off when red demolition charges demolished the main span and three smaller ones. The enemy thereby had demolished all permanent bridges spanning the Taedong in the Pyongyang metropolitan area.

The stiffest remaining resistance was anticipated in Pyongyang's northwest corner from die-hard red units screening the northward retreat of the main communist forces.

On the opposite side of the Korean peninsula, meanwhile, other South Korean troops pushed northwest and northeast from the captured industrial center of Hamhung and the nearby eastern port of Hungnan. These forces registered gains up to 15 miles Thursday, reaching within 90 miles of the Manchurian border and 215 miles of Soviet Siberia.

In Pyongyang, red war prisoners said Kim Il Sung had left only 3,000 troops behind to offer rearguard opposition in one of the world's most ancient cities.

"peace patrol" remains a matter of conjecture, Dulles and others favor the inclusion of Russia on the grounds it would obligate the Soviet bloc to pay heed to UN authority in intervening against and to recognize the right of the UN to investigate incidents against peace on the spot.

Acceptance by Vishinsky also would extend tacit Soviet recognition to the "little assembly" hitherto boycotted by the cominform group. The anti-aggression resolution authorizes the "little assembly" to accept reports from the "peace patrol" commission if the full assembly is not in session.

Vishinsky has tried unsuccessfully so far to stipulate that all major powers—particularly communist China—be included in the "peace patrol" group. Western delegates rejected this as an attempt to get communist China admitted to the UN by the backdoor.

CAUTIOUS POLICY IS BEING MAPPED FOR FAR EAST

High government sources, in discussing the Wake meeting yesterday, disclosed that:

1. Gen. MacArthur for some time has been convinced that neither Communist China nor Russia would intervene in Korea.

2. That MacArthur and Mr. Truman reached a private agreement concerning Formosa.

Charge Man Was Stoning Autos

Police arrested one Herbert Webb of Aliquippa for stoning autos at West Washington and Smithfield streets last night.

The charge was disorderly conduct.

In police court today he told a rambling reason for his action to Mayor Haven who ordered that Aliquippa police be notified of his arrest, incoherency in police court, and they should assume charge of him.

Webb recently was released from a Pittsburgh mental hospital.

METAL WEIGHT

DETROIT—Iron and steel in the average modern automobile weigh about 2,600 pounds.

Police Still Hunt Vandals

Apparently the three way radio patrol of police cars and also private cars used by uniformed and plainclothesmen of the city police bureau is having a beneficial effect, not one act of vandalism having been reported last night.

It is believed the vandals who damaged a car, and broke windows during the past two weeks are "lying low" in fear of apprehension.

The squads which operate in cars and also on foot in all eight wards are also watching for prehalloweening.

GRAHAM-CRAVEN NUPTIAL RITE

Fall flowers in the background were the setting of the marriage of Miss Nellie Irene Graham, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Graham, R. D. 1, New Castle, and Charles Craven, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Craven, Wampum. Rev. Earl Collins, Bethel Baptist church, performed the single ring ceremony Wednesday evening at 6:30 o'clock in the bride's home.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, was attractive in a dress of blue crepe, accented with black accessories. Her shoulder corsage was of red roses and white mums. Her only jewelry was rhinestones, gift of the groom. The bride wore the traditional something old, new, borrowed and blue.

Miss Delores Duncan, as maid of honor, wore a dress of blue satin with navy accessories. Her shoulder corsage was identical to the bride's.

Donald Rogers, cousin of the bride, served as best man.

Preceding the ceremony Miss Barbara Graham, sister of the bride, sang "Because", "I Love You Truly" and the "Lord's Prayer". She was accompanied by Miss Beverly Collins.

A reception followed immediately for 150 guests. Those serving were the Misses Margie Cover, Barbara Sillman and Beverly Collins.

A four-tier wedding cake centered the table.

Mrs. L. F. Kohn, scholarship chairman ,reported on council's two local scholarship students and also mentioned gifts which had been received for this fund. Mrs. William L. Mrs. Sherman Samuels, program chairman, introduced Mrs. Mont Blau, chairman of international relations and peace, who gave her report and introduced the speaker, Mrs. C. R. The meeting was then adjourned and the group was delighted with a beautifully arranged sweet table and tea, served by hostesses, Mrs. Pierson Caplan, Mrs. Milton Cushner and Mrs. Jack Gerson.

GOVERNMENT COSTS MORE TOO

For the worker who finds a few more dollars in his envelope on Saturday these days, there is at least a temporary satisfaction. More money means more things he can buy.

Or does it?

When the new rates for steel workers are announced there will be a general demand for increases by workers in wood, coal, copper, brass, and the other lines of industry.

But of course similar increases will be expected by transportation workers, clerks, foodstuff, clothing and furniture workers. In the end the general increases will be reflected in higher costs of production and the worker's dollar will have shrunk a little.

Among the things that have been going up in cost is government—local, state and national. Presently the city council is wrestling with its annual headache known as a budget. Shortly the county commissioners will be doing the same thing and still later the school board.

Steak at a dollar a pound costs the government worker just as much as the coal miner or the steel worker. Coal furnished to a city building or a school building is sold the same as coal to any other large consumer.

Repairs to governmental buildings, streets, highways, maintenance or prisoners, go up along with everything else. Government workers have to eat three times a day just as other workers do and their clothes cost no less because they work for the government.

It means only one thing. Higher taxes. And those taxes will have to be borne by all proportionately.

These are days when one feels almost sorry for budget officers in government. On the one hand they are criticized for raising taxes and on the other belabored for not giving increases in wages and salaries.

If the pay envelope is a little heavier this week remember that that increase is a part of the reason why government costs are rising.

RURAL CRIME SHOWS INCREASE

Perusal of the FBI's "Uniform Crime Reports" for the first half of 1950 invites some interesting comparison of statistics. In rural areas—outside incorporated places of less than 2,500 people—crime increased 7.4 per cent this year over last year. The increase in towns and cities reporting was less than two per cent.

Here is an eye-opener on one form of crime—burglary. "While burglaries rose 1.9 per cent in the cities, such crimes increased 14.9 per cent in the rural areas." No one has attempted to guess why the burglary trend is increasing so much faster in the country than in the city.

Could one factor be that law enforcement is not in step with the mushroom growth of suburbs?

One table in the pamphlet is headed "Urban Crime Rates," listing the number of crimes per 100,000 population in cities and towns of more than 2,500. The crime rate in urban communities is still far ahead of that in rural sections, but crime in the latter is striving valiantly to catch up.

But the FBI does not make a clear distinction between "urban" and "rural" areas. That is difficult to do nowadays when most new housing is outside the old incorporated towns and cities. It would be interesting to see crime statistics for whole countries and states.

'ANNA CHRISTIE' DIES

Pauline Lord was better known in the 1920s than in recent years, but she never lost her position as one of the leading actresses in the American theater. She died the other day at the age of 60.

Going on the stage at 13, she did not come into the spotlight until Eugene O'Neill created one of the greatest feminine roles in the English-speaking theater—Anna Christie.

The critics at the time noted that her acting as the girl of the water front cast over the theater a rare spell that would never be forgotten. They were right—her performance is still treasured.

After "Anna Christie" came a few other notable plays in which she starred—outstanding women characters such as Abby in "The Late Christopher Bean," Amy in "They Knew What They Wanted," and most particularly Zenobia in "Ethan Frome."

But in recent years the American theater offered little opportunity for this fine actress. Play after play in which she appeared tured out to be flops. Her last appearance on Broadway was six years ago, in a not very good play entitled "Sleep, My Pretty One."

This was the tragedy of an actress in search of a vehicle—and none forthcoming. But she will remain in memory as one of the great ladies of the theater. And, of all her work, nothing will ever surpass her portrayal of the tragic girl, Anna Christie, whose life was engulfed by "dat old debil sea."

A Decatur, Ga., man has developed a combination tricycle and lawnmower. We'd say that's making Junior earn his weekly allowance pretty early.

Alabama reports a plague of bugs which are gnawing the paint off automobiles. At that, some of those new model motor cars do look good enough to eat.

Latest fashion gimmick, we read, is a slip that's worn showing. Now us mere males won't know whether the lady is in the height of style—or just forgetful.

Next Big Job In Indo-China

President Truman has declared that the United States and other free nations must oppose with armed force any new communist aggression anywhere—and the next big job after Korea is Indo-China.

Even as the president spoke in San Francisco on a plan to aid the French against communist led guerrillas which have inflicted a heavy defeat on French troops near the Indo-China-Chinese frontier.

There was nothing particularly new in the president's speech except its toughness of language and his detailed attempt to make Asiatic nationals believe that we can do more for them than Russia can with what the president termed Moscow's "false revolution of communism".

Situation Is Alarming

The French Indo-China situation is alarming, and it can cause another crisis in metropolitan French politics.

Washington plans to rush aid to the French and Viet Nam forces in that country but at the same time never has disguised its hope that the French will give greater autonomy to Bao Dai's weak government to counter the nationalistic fervor which has favored Ho Chi Minh, the Moscow-trained Viet Minh guerrilla leader.

Ho holds out to the natives the complete independence from the French; the French-backed Bao Dai, former emperor of Annam is for Indo-Chinese autonomy within the French union.

Ho has created an army of up to 70,000 men and is getting aid from communist China, including Russian, Japanese and captured American arms. The French seem to be appalled at the amount of arms he has acquired recently and the good training of the troops under him. These troops less than two weeks ago virtually wiped out five crack French battalions, including Foreign Legionnaires.

Has 200,000 Troops

The Viet Nam government headed by Bao Dai is supported by about 200,000 troops of which the bulk are French. These are armed with modern weapons but are spread thin to control key towns and communication centers. Their hold is weak, and the whole French position is weak as evidenced by the retreat from the Chinese border area.

Politically, the Viet Nam government also is admittedly weak because it has failed to lure away from Ho Chi Minh the nationalism on which his regime thrives.

The weakness has been attributed to the lack of real native autonomy. The French still control defense, foreign policy and key economic and social policies.

Bao Dai himself has been subjected to much criticism. He spent the summer on the French Riviera whereas Frenchmen and his own countrymen alike believed that he should have been at home on the local war front.

Seeks To Drive Wedge

It is against this background, in Indo-China specifically, that President Truman has sought to drive a wedge between Russia and the Asiatic revolutionaries.

He has done this by declaring that Soviet communism actually is attempting to turn Asiatic peoples into "colonial slaves of a new imperialism".

Moscow's propaganda line thru the four years of French-Indo-Chinese fighting has been the steady refrain—overthrow the "imperialist colonial power, France" In France itself the local Communist party, which has professed openly its allegiance to Stalin rather than France in case of war steadily has attacked the government on its far eastern policy.

President Truman, in his call for Asiatics to turn away from a "new colonialism, Soviet style", declared that the United States would furnish under a new "partnership of peace" material and technical aid for under-privileged peoples. He added that America would not try "to push blueprints upon them as ready-made answers for all their complicated problems".

Even while the president's political foes have demanded heavy preparedness expenditures which now are under way they also have agreed that one Russian aim is to try to bankrupt the United States.

Incidentally, a new warning about American economy came even before the president spoke. The president's own newly-appointed economic stabilization director, Alan Valentine, warned that the nation is in "a very grave crisis" and "dangerously near" a point where inflation could destroy its economic stability.

The Parent Problem

By Garry C. Myers, Ph. D.

INCREASED TEACHER SHORTAGE AND PROBLEMS

Thousands of children in the United States are attending school in overcrowded classrooms with poorly trained teachers. For a number of years we have read in the press of the dire shortage of teachers, especially for the elementary grades, and the need of new and enlarged school buildings.

Just as the picture was growing a little bright—as some increase in salaries for teachers was helping cause more high school graduates to enter teacher training colleges, and a bit more money was being appropriated by state legislatures and local school boards for school buildings—a new threat to world peace has compelled our nation to invest heavily in money and manpower for defense. The inevitable, enormous increase in federal taxes just ahead will soon mean less money available for public schools just when more money will be so sorely needed.

Serious Threat

The most serious threat to our children is that of increased teacher shortage. There will be teachers, of course, but more of these teachers will be untrained or poorly trained. You see, when a school superintendent doesn't have enough teachers with standard training available for his schools, he must take on teachers with substandard training. He must make his examinations for teacher applicants easy enough to get enough teachers.

Furthermore, as I pointed out some while ago, many men were in the past ten years entering training for the elementary schools. But this good trend will be checked, as more men will be inducted into the armed forces or attracted to industry.

Also, unless teacher salaries keep apace with wages in industry, which is hardly probable, fewer instead of more girls will enter teaching.

Furthermore, as our highways have badly deteriorated, there's a strong pressure in state legislations for appropriation for road and for increasing gas tax, and to use the revenue therefrom for roads only. Indeed, in some states all gas tax is tagged for highways. Well, this will mean less revenue in the long run for schools. And public highways usually have stronger lobbies than have children. Excepting for the highways necessary to defense, could they not better afford to wait than our children?

Brighter Side

But on the brighter side is the emphasis made by leaders on the air and in the public press on the needs of our schools. Also throughout our nation are developing local organizations of citizens who are considering our children's need and apprising the wider communities of these needs.

Always the local P.T.A., as a part of the National Congress of Parent and Teachers with over six million members, has championed the cause of children and created

Bible Thought

Jesus said, I told you, and ye believed not; the works that I do in my Father's name, they bear witness of me. But ye believe not, because ye are not of my sheep, as I said unto you. My sheep hear my voice, and I know them, and they follow me; and I give unto them eternal life; and they shall never perish, neither shall any man pluck them out of my hand.

MEN AND PIGS

Scientists tell us that men and pigs are very much alike when it comes to diet.

They are both omnivorous. That means that they eat everything, both flesh and plants.

Some animals are carnivorous. They eat flesh only. Others are herbivorous. They eat plants only.

Men and pigs are not so choicy. They eat whatever they can get, whether it is good for them or not.

Pigs seem to get away with it a little better than men do. At least they do not seem to complain very much about liver trouble or indigestion. All they want is more.

Raisers of pigs encourage them to eat and grow fat.

Some people have a tendency to grow fat.

Overweight is a dangerous condition. It should be prevented.

Reducing is not nearly as much good as preventing obesity.

WASHINGTON—Economic stabilization director Alan Valentine: "We are in a very, very grave crisis . . . There have got to be controls. Just how much and what kind will depend on the circumstance..."

'BOOTS AND SADDLES'

Can Man Run A House?

(By HENRY McLEMORE)

Tender, yes.

Sweet, to be sure.

But silly words, if I have ever heard silly words.

I mean the words your wife says when she leaves you for a few days.

"Can you manage, darling? Will you be all right? You'll be lost in a house all by yourself. You won't know what to do."

Women depend upon men to make a living, fight for them, go down-stairs to chase burglars, but they don't think a man can run a house.

Gone Two Days Now

My wife has been gone two days now, and this house is hitting on all eight. I haven't starved to death yet. Food is on the table three times a day, the flowers are all watered, telephones have been answered, and every time it has rained the right windows have been pulled down.

Of course, the beds haven't been made since Jean left, but what is wrong with an unmade bed? Do they have to be made up every morning? Seems to me that sleeping in a bed sort of breaks it in, and it should be left that way, instead of smoothing it out of a morning, putting on a coverlet, and tucking the pillows just so. This only makes for work when you are ready to hit the sack. You have to yank off the spread, beat the pillows with your fists to make them comfortable, and give the sheet and blankets a mighty upward tug to keep them from hurting your toes with their tightness.

A nicely made bed looks good to strangers, but who is going about taking strangers into his bedroom?

Don't Make Sense

Truthfully, wives don't make sense. Their aim in life is to have a home that looks lived in. How many times have I heard women say, "A lovely room, yes, but it doesn't look lived in."

Well, you can't say that about my house right now.

There's a shoe on the mantelpiece, for one thing. Don't tell me that a shoe on the mantelpiece doesn't denote that someone is living close by. Particularly when there's a sock by the shoe.

Same goes for the kitchen.

The kitchen not only looks as if a man were living there, but a division, up to strength, were sharing the mysteries of the stove, sink, and pantry. Nothing is too good for a man living alone.

I am using family heirloom plates for my meals, a thing that would horrify a wife. They believe that real good china should be kept in bondage the rest of its life. I am telling you the truth when I tell you that, in Jean's absence, I am eating chili con carne (canned) off plates that haven't breathed a breath of fresh aid for 15 years. Just what she has been "saving" the china for I don't know. Perhaps the farewell "run" of Dewey. Frankly I don't think it will last that long.

Learned About Use Of Broom

Women make a great to-do of the vacuum cleaner. Takes them hours to swish it around a room. Not the lone husband. I just turn it loose and let it run itself. It is amazing what corners and crevices it finds. I learned more about the use of the broom in the army than most girls learn during a lifetime. There is no school for girls that'll teach a girl as much about making a home as two years in the army will do for a guy.

I don't like our kitchen curtains, so I am making some new ones. I like velvet drapes in the kitchen. Women don't. They like cotton stuff, with cute little prints, showing a waffle fleeing from a salmon, or something equally as dreadful. I like a Victorian kitchen, with curtains that'll put their arms around the smell of fried onions and hold it it forever.

Women are particular about laundry. Must be done on just the right day. The only time to send out laundry, I think, is when you have nothing else to put on. Then send it out in a mammoth bunch that makes the laundryman chuckle over what he is going to charge you.

In short, things are going to the devil since Jean left, and I'll meet her with open arms.

One Man's Opinion

By Walter Kiernan

Just got a delayed message from Wake Island that they found three abandoned smiles on the beach and will forward to the owner for postage.

But those Truman-MacArthur pictures came out fine . . . I hear the Republicans are thinking of ordering 300 sets.

The only thing wrong with them is that one man looked like he had an appointment with destiny and the other looked like his appointment was with the dentist.

I know in my set of pictures all the laughing teeth belong to one man and he doesn't look like anything comical is happening.

But no matter how you look at it, it was a graceful gesture so close to election day.

Currently there are no plans for another Wake Island meeting as long as Korea and Ohio continue to go well.

And I hear the next time the idea comes up it will all be handled in a night letter sent by special albatross.

From Me To You

By MESEEALL

Getting around election time . . . and it's interesting to note that many citizens are letting their liberties go without even lifting a little finger . . . When you fail to vote . . . you are casting a ballot that will take the United States out of the preferred listing and placing it in the Dictatorship class . . . for those who wish a change over to Socialist or Communist types of government never miss going to the polls on election day.

In 1896—83% of the registered voters voted.
In 1919—71% of the registered voters voted.
In 1944—56% of the registered voters voted.
In 1949—51% of the registered voters voted.

Now over in Russia they vote . . . nearly everybody votes BUT there is no choice of candidates . . . It's about time that our American citizens wake up to their obligations . . . Freedom once lost is difficult to regain . . . and now when our attention is focused on Korea because that's where our friends, sons and husbands are fighting . . . we who remain at home ought to establish a rigid rule of voting at every election.

We can and are losing our democracy by default . . . and there will be no one to take the blame except the individuals who stay away from the voting places on election day . . . You have the information on each candidate . . . each has his record and you know right from wrong . . . None of the candidates are letter perfect just as none of the voters are letter perfect . . . But there are those who think American . . . and those who think otherwise . . . we don't know about you but we are for the free enterprise system . . . we are for the right of every man to work when he pleases and where he pleases. In Russia the camps hire the men . . . and the camps are where the little man with the mustache says where they will be and the men work when that same form of whisker speaks . . . Our Uncle Sam never worked that way . . . How many agree?

Nehru Tells India's Policy

(This is the first of two exclusive dispatches by Marquis Childs filed from New Delhi, India. Their content was obtained after a long private audience with Prime Minister Jawabarlal Nehru of India.)

NEW DELHI, India—Wearing homespun garments and leading a life of almost spartan austerity in his vast official residence, one of the leading figures on the world stage talks eloquently and movingly of the world's despairing need for peace.

Prime Minister Jawaharlal Nehru, in a four-hour talk with me, expounded the philosophy behind India's foreign policy.

If that policy has confused some and seemed to resemble appeasement, it is not due to any wavering of Nehru's mind. He sees the supreme tragedy of a third world conflict overshadowing humanity and his deepest convictions are that everything must be done to avert it.

No Chinese Intervention

For the moment, at least, Nehru believes the danger of China's intervention in the Korean war has subsided. He says India's role was solely to pass on to Great Britain and the United States the statements made by Chou En-Lai to India's Ambassador Pannikar in Peiping. But how, Nehru asks, could anyone assume that those statements were a bluff? They had to be taken at face value unless one presumed to know the inner workings of the minds of the men now governing China.

The reasons why the Nehru government is working incessantly for peace and to avoid seeming to align itself against Peiping emerge from Nehru's conversation as he ranges back to the origins of India in the earliest Indus civilization, rediscovered some years ago. They can be summarized as follows:

Reversion To Barbarism

First is its belief that World War III would mean a reversion to barbarism over large areas of the earth. Destruction would be so great and interruption of all forms of transportation and communication so far-reaching that this is inevitable. As Nehru sees it, "military, almost tribal, dictatorships" would take the place of organized government in many regions.

In this connection the Nehru government is firmly determined to try to maintain neutrality if such a war occurs. But Nehru, with a rare smile illuminating his grave face, admits to great difficulties in the way of holding to such a course. He also fully understands the indirect consequences of a new war on a "neutral" and particularly on India where the struggle to curb inflation and to reconstruct is so critical.

Second Reason For Policy

The second reason for the policy of the Nehru government is the belief that in the "long run China can never become a satellite of Russia or a Communist state in the Russian pattern."

Nehru points to shifts in Chinese policy during the past year granting rights even to large land-holding peasants to retain their lands and farm them for their own profit. To Nehru this means the likelihood of the continuing domination of the peasant economy with a restraining influence on theoretical Communists in the cities. Sensitivities and pride in new nationalisms in both India and China enter in here, too. There are repeated reports printed in Delhi of Chinese invasions of Tibet. The fate of this remote mountain fastness is linked to India's prestige. Likewise, the integrity and independence of Burma, which once had major ties to China, are important to India not alone for pride prestige but for the military security of the nation. China's military strength is at least 10 times that of India.

Third Reason Is Given

The third reason for the Indian policy is the profound influence of the Gandhi philosophy on Nehru and most members of the government. Though he has been dead for more than two years, Gandhi is still a living spirit in this British-built capital of imperial splendor which has been taken over by Indian leaders who led the revolution against the British Raj.

Nehru makes plain in almost everything he says the influence on him of Gandhi who was like a father and brother to him. Gandhi's non-violence, which deeply swayed the Indian masses, lives on in the hearts and minds of those who are trying to establish a Democratic self-government in this land torn by religious strife and burdened by ancient traditions.

This Gandhi-ism partly explains the revulsion here for the mass killing and destruction in Korea even though India joined the U. S. in its United Nations stand against the aggressor. The remark General MacArthur made, and widely printed here, saying the sight of dead North Koreans was good for his old eyes caused a highly unfavorable reaction.

Also The Related Suspicion

This also is related to the suspicion that the west considers Asiatics expendable and that the desire of Europe and perhaps America is to fight the war against Communism in Asia where weapons of mass destruction, such as the atomic bomb, can be used.

That brings up the fourth reason for the Indian policy, which is the fear of American imperialism. Nehru, of course, is far too understanding to hold such a fear. He says what Asians fear is not the old-fashioned imperialism, but "economic imperialism."

The man in the long homespun coat, called an Achkan, talks on in the deep silence of the Indian night. Ever soft and muted in its conversational flow, his voice implies brilliance and power as the speaker to vast Indian throngs. Only the occasional howling of Delhi jackals in the remote darkness beyond the open window breaks the stillness, reminding us of the forces of nature still to be conquered in this ancient land. Whether anyone in the west likes it or not, this man is India today—the inheritor of Gandhi's and, as he has just shown, a new master political party that dominates the country.

Looking At Life

By ERICH BRANDEIS

Whenever a "reformed" something-or-other starts to preach and condemn the very sins he once committed himself—I take it with a considerable grain of salt.

The other evening I listened to a lecture by one of these fellows.

The name does not matter. You'd know it if I mentioned it.

Up to some time ago this chap was a red-hot Red. He extolled the virtues of Communism. He painted Russia as the ultimate paradise on earth. Stalin could do no wrong.

Then he reformed.

I don't know just WHY he reformed, but I do know that now as a "reformed" Communist he makes much more money than he ever did before.

He does so by biting the hand that used to feed him.

He goes around the country lecturing, he writes articles and books against Russia, he even teaches and, in his classes can't say enough against the country which suddenly, to him, has changed from heaven to hell on earth.

One of the reasons I don't trust these fellows is that I myself have reformed several times—and every reform of mine was a flop.

Two years ago, for reasons of health, I quit smoking.

The doctor told me that my pipe was a shovel that helped to dig my grave.

But I was not sincere in my reform. I reformed because I was AFRAID.

During my reform period I lectured my friends. I told them that smoking was bad, that they, too, should cut out the filthy weed. I even pretended to enjoy non-smoking.

I still think that smoking is not any too good for anybody.

But as soon as the doctor gave me a clean bill of health I got out my smelly old pipes and I have turned into a smoke-stack once again.

The FEAR has gone out of me.

Never mind my other reforms. They were just as hypocritical.

The country is full of "reformed" Communists today. Most

LAMPLIGHT

Time was the home was lit with lamps, with fancy ones on chains,
And little lamps, and bedroom lamps, and lamps for men of brains.
Then those were known as 'student lamps," and who to learn,
would toil,
And sit up late at night to read
was burning "midnight oil."
I knew them as a little boy, and looking back I'd say
That something soft and beautiful with lamplight passed away.

We once had lamps to bear about,
not prisoned to a wire.
Who carried one from room to room was warned "Beware of fire."
And when at night he went outside, the wood or coal to bring,
The boy went gladly to the task.
A lantern he could swing!
'Tis strange the way the memory clings to much that once was done.
To be allowed to light a lamp I used to think was fun.

Today a button small is pressed and every room's aglow.
Lamp chimneys now nobody shines, a task I used to know.
Our children haven't seen a lamp and maybe never will.
The wick of which I had to smooth;
the bowl with oil refill.
It is a brighter life they know and surely safer, too,
But lamps gave home a touch of charm that bulbs can never do.

REBEKAH CHAPTER HEARS SPEAKER

Rebekah Chapter met in the First United Presbyterian church for their October meeting with Miss Agnes Ballentyne, librarian of the Pittsburgh-Xenia Seminary, as their guest speaker.

Miss Ballentyne was born in India and lived there a greater part of her life and at the present she has two sisters there as missionaries. Miss Ballentyne spoke of our United Presbyterian missions in India and she also mentioned the conditions in India at th present time. She told how big business had gone there. Miss Ballentyne said that during the separation of Pakistan and Hindustan it was the native Christians who had aided in alleviating suffering and in the cleanup of the devastation as they are doing in the floods that have come to India and Pakistan. Excerpts from letters told how but one cup of milk could be given to hungry babies and the wheat had gotten water-soaked. Missionaries are going through terrible experiences giving assistance. They are thankful for the gifts from America "Pieces for Peace." All clothing available is coming from the United States.

Mrs. Robert Maxwell, president of the Rebekah Chapter, presided at the meeting, with Miss Harriet Smith, Miss Mary Pattison and Miss Dell Davidson, hostesses for the evening.

Mrs. David Rees, program chairman, introduced the speaker. Mrs. Floyd Lortz, thank offering secretary, was devotional leader and gave the thank offering prayer. Mrs. Grace White was in charge of the Prayer Cycle.

November 1, with Rev. Robert H. Mayo presiding, there will be an organization meeting of a Missionary Cabinet, the purpose of which is to coordinate the work that the various societies of the church are doing. Mrs. Maxwell announced that the Rebekah Chapter will be represented in the Cabinet by the thank offering secretary, Mrs. Floyd Lortz, the program secretary, Mrs. David Rees, and an appointed member, Mrs. Robert Galbreath.

Delegates and members of the Rebekah Chapter will attend the meeting in the Highland U. P. church, October 19, 1950, on Thursday, of the Beaver Valley Presbyterial of the Missionary societies of the United Presbyterian church.

Will Dedicate Eastern End Of Turnpike

HARRISBURG, Oct. 19.—(INS)—The Pennsylvania turnpike today planned a day-long program October 23 to mark the dedication and official preview of the super toll road's eastern extension.

A 100-car caravan will tour the 100-mile route from King of Prussia to Carlisle, stopping off for ceremonies at each of the extension's nine interchanges.

Gov. James H. Duff will cut a blue and gold ribbon across the turnpike approach at the Valley Forge interchange near King of Prussia.

Civic officials and Chamber of Commerce representatives will join the program along the line.

Opening Delayed

Turnpike commission chairman Thomas J. Evans will announce future plans for the turnpike at concluding ceremonies at the Carlisle interchange.

The commission had announced an October 1 opening date for the eastern extension, but rain delayed construction and forced the date to be set back, according to turnpike officials.

The commissioners have not announced how soon after the dedication the extension will be opened for general use.

The eastern link will join at Middlesex with the original 167-mile turnpike to Irwin.

What do YOU think?

The Bible tells us that we should forgive the REPENTANT SINNER. But the meaning of that admonition is not that we should fall in love with HYPOCRITES. The Bible has something to say about that, too.

Remember that these "reformed" Reds were taught in the school of Marx and Lenin.

In that school hypocrisy and lying are among the fundamentals. So let us end this little homily with the old refrain "Of course, you know, that may be so, but then it sounds blamed queer. Of course, you know that may be so, but the d---n thing don't go here!"

THE FAMILY SCRAPBOOK

By DR. ERNEST G. OSBORNE

One of the Gang

"But, Mom, the guys will think I'm a sissy!" Barney protested. And all Mom had asked was permission to wash her 10-year-old's dirty corduroy trousers. In Centerville, dirty "cords" were a mark of "belonging" for the pre-teenage boys. Unsanitary? Yes. Silly? Perhaps. (At least from an adult's point of view.) Yet, to Barney, being one of the gang was most important.

At certain times while youngsters are growing, there's nothing much more important. Unless the behavior expected from one of the gang is actually dangerous to life or limb or is something that goes against our deepest convictions of what is right, it's better to set one's jaw and accept dirty pants and the unconventional behavior of pre-teen-agers.

Girls, too, need to "belong." Knowing all about the latest movie star may be their ticket of admission to their particular gang. Or it may be Sloppy Joe shirts or other uncomely wearing apparel.

Granted it may be hard on us as parents, there's great value to youngsters in belonging to the gang. We're lucky if what it takes is nothing more serious than the above-mentioned peculiarities.

Rose Avenue Group Plans Programs

Members of the Rose Avenue P.T.A. program committee met at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Rashid, Hazel avenue.

Final plans for the year's programs were made, with the group to follow the national theme "The Citizen Child, His Destiny, a Free World." Rose Avenue will have as its theme "Our Children as Future Citizens," with several diversified and education projects planned for the year.

The annual unit auction will be held at the October meeting of October 24. In November, Dr. Joseph McClymonds of the Slippery Rock State Teachers' college will speak on "Advances in Educational Methods." Along with Education Week this will show a close relationship between the home and school and of the understanding and interpreting of the school program.

The January program will be "Father's Night" and will feature a panel by a group of Westminster students in "The UNESCO—An Agency of the People, for the People."

"The Moral and Spiritual Guidance of Our Children" will be discussed in the form of a symposium made up of prominent citizens of New Castle for the March meeting. For the April meeting Dr. John Coleman of Geneva college, in lecture form, will sum up all phases of the year's theme. His topic will be "Foundations of a Good Citizenship."

It is the desire of the program committee that these programs will stimulate interest in adult education which is a necessity in insuring good citizenship.

Dainty refreshments were later served by the hostess, with a yellow and orange color motif predominating.

Kiwanis Hears About Judaism

Rabbi Gruen Explains Basis Of Jews' Belief

In the second of a series of addresses by ministers belonging to the New Castle Kiwanis club, Dr. Iwan J. Gruen, spiritual leader of Temple Israel, explained the beliefs of the Jewish religion. The club members were guests at luncheon in the temple and afterwards went to the sanctuary, where they listened to Dr. Gruen's interesting talk.

He explained the difference between the Jewish belief and the Christian belief, and also the difference between the Orthodox and Reformed Jewish beliefs.

Explains Various Feasts

The third talk in the series will be given later by Rev. Fr. V. V. Stancelewski at a later date.

Rabbi Gruen explained the various symbols to be found at the altar and their meaning.

He also explained the significance of the various feasts which the Jews observe, the most recent of which has just been concluded. The Jewish New Year starts in the early fall and the period is ushered in with a 10-day period of penitence, culminating in the fast of Yom Kippur, and dedicated to spiritual stock-taking.

The Festival of Tabernacles is held in the fall he explained and is the harvest festival, commemorating the time when the Jews worshiped in the tabernacles and dwelt in tents.

Then in December comes the Feasts of Lights commemorating the rededication of the temple, when Judah, the Macabee, led the Jews to victory and the temple was reclaimed. They found a cruse of oil which was burned and lasted for eight days, since which time candles are lit for a period of eight days, one the first night, two the second, and so on.

The Passover is observed as the festival of freedom, celebrating the liberation of the ancient Jews from Egyptian bondage. He stated that the words on the Liberty Bell are not the words of Washington but those of Moses, "Proclaim liberty throughout the land to all the inhabitants thereof."

In the spring the Feast of Weeks is held, which is a reminder of the giving of the Torah on Mt. Sinai, at which time the Jewish youth is confirmed.

The most sacred symbols of Judaism, he stated, are the scrolls which make up the Torah which occupy the center of the altar facing the congregation, a reminder of the Biblical Ark of the Covenant. They contain the Pentateuch, the first five books of the Bible, containing the principles of their faith, the Ten Commandments, the golden rule and the laws of holiness.

Dr. Gruen explained the various other symbols exhibited on the altar and answered other questions of his hearers, the meeting proving a most instructive one.

Huge Posse In Alabama Is Hunting Man

CALERA, Ala., Oct. 19—(INS)—A huge posse of state police, sheriff's deputies and enraged citizens tracked through the woods near Calera early today on the trail of a man who raped a 37-year-old farm wife and shot and killed her four-year-old boy in her arms.

State Agent Jack Benton of the Alabama Beverage Control Board, who joined in the search said the manhunt — led by bloodhounds from nearby Kilby prison — will continue through the night with police from three counties working in shifts.

Benton said the dogs lost the fugitive's trail early today when it doubled across a brook and down a dusty road running north from Calera to Birmingham, 30 miles away.

Posse Organized

The posse was organized yesterday when the brutally-beaten white woman, dragged herself almost two miles to a highway for help.

Mrs. Kathleen Holly said her "gold-toothed" assailant, a negro, forced her into a bedroom of her farm home, raped her, and then marched her at gunpoint to a wooded spot 150 yards away where he ordered her to put down her son, Dale, whom she carried in her arms.

She said she refused and the man shot the boy twice and then beat her with a rock before fleeing.

Mrs. Holly was taken to a Birmingham hospital were attendants said her injuries were not serious.

Man is the only animal that drinks without being thirsty.

Easy Prey For Headaches

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 19.—(INS)—Ambitious, hard-driving people who set high standards for themselves and others were described today as an easy prey for migraine headaches.

Proneness of certain individuals to the malady was described to the 100th annual meeting of the Pennsylvania State Medical society by Dr. George A. Walf, Jr., of New York.

Dr. Wolf said ambitious persons may suffer "frustrations" because they require "things to be just so," he added:

"Many times these bad headaches will occur in a period of relaxation which follows periods of tension.

Common Cause

"Migraine headaches not uncommonly occur in the man who works hard all week and sleeps late on Sunday."

Dr. C. Howard Marcy, of Pittsburgh, told a symposium that tuberculosis control has reduced the number of deaths in the disease from 200,000 to 39,000 a year in the past half-century of medical research in the United States.

Dr. Harold B. Gardner, of Pittsburgh, took office as president of the state society and presented the Benjamin Rush awards to Leroy Mikels, of Stroudsburg, and to the Trexler Foundation of Allentown.

Mikels was honored for his work with the Monroe county Red Cross. The Trexler Foundation has donated millions of dollars for support of health and recreation facilities in Lehigh county.

Declares Russia Does Not Have Any Atom Bombs

CHAMERSBURG, Pa., Oct. 19—(INS)—A former lieutenant colonel in the Russian air force told Wilson College students yesterday that Russia does not have the atom bomb.

Speaking at the second contemporary affairs convocation, Vasili Kotov said that if Russia had the bomb Premier Stalin would have told the Russian people.

"This he has never done," Kotov asserted.

He said the failure of Red leaders in Communist North Korea to make a stand against United Nations forces stemmed from the fact that Moscow is "not ready for a big war either technically or politically."

He claimed Stalin was having "trouble" with the Soviet army and satellite countries.

"He needs a minimum of five years to settle the satellites," according to Kotov.

PAIRED SHIPS GET FISH

ST. JOHNS, Newfoundland.—The "pairs" system of Spanish fishing vessels on the Grand Banks has Newfoundland fishermen complaining. The Spaniards use a dragnet a quarter-of-a-mile wide hauled by two vessels. Able to stay at sea for more than a month, the foreign ships are taking from 80 to 100 tons of fish in the manner.

The quick-type sponge cake uses fewer eggs than the regular sponge cake and adds baking powder as leavening instead.

Staassen Criticizes Trumans Address

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 19.—(INS)—Harold E. Stassen has criticized President Truman for failing to discuss "the difficult and dangerous questions of the Communist Chinese government, Formosa and Indo-China" in his San Francisco address.

The former Minnesota governor said he will discuss "future American policy on these subjects" in detail in a radio broadcast next week.

"The handling of these problems," Stassen said, "will determine in the final analysis whether or not the courageous fighting and great sacrifice in Korea has been in large part in vain.

"The President's silence at San Francisco on these subjects appears to indicate that he did not ask General MacArthur's advice upon them.

"This is disappointing to the American people. General MacArthur's advice on these questions is desperately needed now before further bloodshed, rather than after the damage is done by new errors of diplomacy."

Order Received From Australia

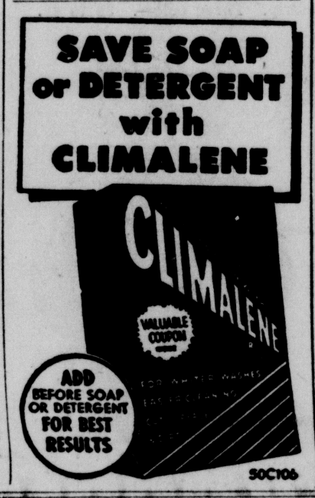

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 19.—(INS)—The Budd company of Philadelphia today announced receipt of an order for three rail diesel cars from the Commonwealth railways of Australia.

H. A. Coward, Budd vice president, said:

"It is the first order placed for these self-propelled, all-stainless steel cars by a foreign railroad and was recommended by P. Hannaberry, commiioner of Commonwealth railway."

Coward said the order "may be the forerunner of considerable business in Australia."

Headache Caused By Three Inches Of Steel In Head

WASHINGTON, Oct. 19—(INS)—Walter Martin's headache turned out to be three inches of steel.

Martin's attorney told a district court that the 55-year-old man had been in a stabbing fray last February and was treated and released by Freedman's hospital.

Six weeks later Martin returned to the hospital complaining of continued pains, and an x-ray showed that a three-inch knife blade was lodged in his head. An operation removed it.

Martin is suing the U.S. government, operator of the hospital, for $25,000 damages.

A few crushed mint leaves added to pineapple juice make a delicious summer cooler. Serve strained over ice cubes and add a mint sprig and a maraschino cherry to each glass for a pretty garnish.

Carried Bullet In Head 13 Years

POTTSVILLE, Pa., Oct. 19.—(INS)—A little soreness remains today in Claude A. Klasner's throat but he's rid of the copper-jacketed bullet which lodged there 13 years ago during a deer hunting accident in Elk county.

The 50-year-old assistant controller for the Philadelphia and Reading Coal and Iron company awoke yesterday in his Pittsville home in a fit of coughing and found the bullet in his mouth.

He told his physician his throat had been sore for the last six months.

The bullet, which worked out through a scar from an old tonsil operation, had struck Klasner near the neckbone. Doctors refused to attempt to remove it because of the danger involved at the time.

Secret Communist Party Files To Be Revealed

WASHINGTON, Oct. 19.—(INS)—Secret Communist party files, including official directives, will be made public in the near future by the House un-American Activities Committee.

A committee source disclosed today that approximately 20 Communist documents will be published by the House group. They were seized last month by police in a raid on party headquarters in Pittsburgh.

The committee spokesman stated that the documents will "reveal the true characteristics of the Communist party, as well as its aims and purposes."

Disclosures Planned

The source added:

"I will disclose what the Communist party tells its leaders, something very different from what it tells the American public."

The documents are expected to disclose:

1. The names of the head organizer and secretary of all Communist party districts in the United States.
2. The "enemies" of the Communist party in America.
3. Official Soviet policy on Korea.
4. Communist party fear of the FBI, which is denounced as a police state organization.

One document reportedly describes the Federal Bureau of Investigation as a group whose agents acts as "spies" for the United States government.

Found in Nelson's Office

The documents were found in the office of Steve Nelson, Communist party head for western Pennsylvania. Police raided the office after Nelson was arrested and charged with violating the state sedition law. Some of the seized material was subsequently turned over to the House committee.

Nelson has already been cited for contempt of Congress by the House for refusing to answer committee questions. He declined on the ground that the answers might incriminate him.

The matter is now in the hands of the United States attorney in Washington, who will present it to a federal grand jury for action.

Conviction carries a maximum penalty of one year imprisonment and $1,000 fine.

Nelson was accused by the committee of having served as a Communist atomic espionage agent during the war. He is regarded as a key party leader in this country.

The amount of sway at the top of the Washington monument in Washington, D. C., is estimated at less than one inch.

Suicide Will Not Hamper Police Probe

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 19.—(INS)—A spokesman for the federal grand jury probing Philadelphia rackets says the suicide of vice squad inspector Craig D. Ellis will not hamper the sweeping investigation.

The spokesman said the jury had counted on Ellis' testimony to "put the finger on quite a few men". But he added:

"We still have other good witnesses. Don't let anyone think that this rings down the curtain on the investigation."

Ellis' former right-hand man Detective Lt. Clarence Ferguson was questioned by the jury for more than an hour yesterday and was followed by Detective Charles Perkolup.

Meanwhile, Ellis, who shot himself to death near Media, Tuesday will be buried in Westminster cemetery tomorrow.

His widow, Mrs. Mary Ellis, told friends she was impoverished and had only her $2,000 home in worldly goods. She said her late husband had suffered from a serious heart condition.

Canada Newsprint Price Boost Is Seen

TORONTO, Oct. 19.—For the second time in four days a major Canadian newsprint producer increased prices $10 a ton and publishing sources believed an industry wide price boost was in the making.

Abitibi Power & Paper company announced a $10 increase, effective Nov. 1, on the heels of similar action by Powell River Paper company at Vancouver. Other big Canadian producers had no comment.

If a $10 price rise becomes general in the newsprint mills of Canada, which supply more than 80 per cent of the needs of United States publishers, it would bring the New York basis of $110 a ton.

That's very close to newsprint's high of $112.60 in 1920, and would compare with an industry low of $40 a ton during the depression years.

Newsprint moved up to $50 a ton in the 1936-42 period, and it has increased steadily in the post-war years—$84 in 1946, $90 in 1947, $96 late in 1948 and $100 midway through last year.

Both Abitibi and Powell River gave high production costs as the reason for the increases.

Buddy Lester, taken for a cleaning at a western gambling joint, is not sure that the black-jack game in which he participated was exactly on the level. In fact, he voiced his suspicions to a policeman outside the premises. "The cop came over the moment I called," recalls Lester. "He listened to my squawk and asked, 'Are you off the bottom in there?' I answered, 'I'm not saying that exactly—but I notice the top card had dust on it.'"

Gus Eysell, in charge of the mammoth Radio City Music Hall, has conducted all kinds of nationalities through the mazes of the institution, and usually knows in advance just how they are going to react to the vast auditorium, the complex lighting system, the orchestra that comes up on a moving platform from the cellar, and the marvelously trained Rockettes. One visitor that stopped him cold, however, was a farmer who never had been to New York before. He never batted an eye during the tour, and spoke for the first time when he gazed up at the balcony from the center of the stage. What he said was, "This place sure would hold a lot of hay."

Criminologists Get Firsthand Display

PARIS — The Second International Congress of Crimenology got off to a fast and realistic start with a murder attempt in its very midst.

On opening day, Constant Galmuscki, 27-year-old Romanian refugee student auditing the Congress, supplied first-hand laboratory material by shooting a fellow Romanian at the height of one of the meetings.

Calmuski was captured by professors and social workers attending the Congress and later arrested by French police, who said he admitted having "premeditated the murder" for "sentimental" reasons.

The victim survived two bullets and was reported recovering in a nearby hospital.

Delegates were discussing theories of "youth delinquency" in the dignified halls of the Sorbonne when the shooting occurred.

A quick and easy luncheon dish is to add finely diced celery to canned kidney beans along with a little chopped pickle and salad dressing; serve on lettuce or romaine. Rinse the beans with cold water, after taking them from the can, and drain before making the salad.

P.T.A. Meeting In Pittsburgh Report Given

The 42nd convention of Pennsylvania Congress of Parents and Teachers was held in Pittsburgh at the William Penn hotel, October 11, 12, and 13, with several delegates from each unit in New Castle participating.

Inaugurating the three-day program was a talk by Mrs. Newton P. Leonard, first vice-president of the National Congress of Parents and Teachers. On Wednesday evening she spoke on the national theme "The Citizen Child—His Destiny in a Free World." This was followed by an informal reception.

Panel Discussion

On Thursday morning, Mrs. James Meehan, state president, gave the convention theme "Every Child's Birthright," with the topic broken up into the four themes—"A Secure Home," "A Study Mind," "A Sturdy Body" and "A Sure Faith." A panel discussion on "The Secure Home" followed.

Dr. Gary C. Meyers, state chairman of mental hygiene, spoke on "A Study Mind" during the afternoon sessions on Thursday. "A Sturdy Body" was discussed by Dr. Alfred Chadwick.

Council presidents headed the processional into the ballroom Thursday evening, with the State chorus entertaining the large crowd. New Castle was represented by the Rose Avenue Chorus in the singing. This was followed by an impressive symposium on "A Sure Faith."

Workshops were conducted Friday morning, including parliamentary procedure, program planning, parent education, and the work of councils. The convention banquet was held in the evening, with Salom Rizk, author and lecturer, giving an address on "The Americanization of an American."

Present From New Castle

Several members of the New Castle P.T.A. units were present for a part or all of the three-day convention. Representing Rose Avenue were Mrs. Samuel Rashid, council president; Mrs. William McKee, Mrs. Florence Jones, Mrs. Thomas Booher, Miss Ellen Gallagher, teacher representative, and Mrs. Clarence McHattie; Oak street, Mrs. Gerald Book, Mrs. Joseph Campbell, Mrs. Robert Say, Miss Janet Knapp, Mrs. William McCullough, Mrs. Arthur Shaffer, Mrs. Thomas Hartman, Mrs. Joseph McKee, and Mrs. Paul Glover.

Single Tickets For Met Concert

Single admission tickets for the opening concert of the Metropolitan Concert Guild are available, it was said today by Mrs. Mildred McClelland, executive secretary of the guild today.

The opening concert is on October 26 when Whittemore and Lowe, crack two-piano team, will appear in the Cathedral to open the concert season.

Season tickets are available until the night of the concert. After the concert the season tickets will not be available.

Four fine performances are scheduled this year by the guild. Following Whittemore and Lowe will come the London String Quartet, Gladys Swarthout, Metropolitan mezzo soprano, and an opera company presenting "The Barber of Seville in English".

The Metropolitan Concert Guild is a non-profit sharing organization which brings to the city top flight musical attractions during the fall and winter of each year.

The quality of the concerts is entirely dependent upon the public acceptance of the concerts. This year the total subscription list is somewhat under that of last year. Season tickets guarantee the holder good attractions at remarkably reasonable prices.

Either season tickets or single admissions may be purchased in the Metropolitan office in The Castleton hotel or at the box office on the night of October 26.

BETA SIGMA PHI PLANS ACTIVITIES

Pennsylvania Epsilon Gamma chapter of Beta Sigma Phi held an interesting discussion-meeting Wednesday evening in the Green room of the Y.W.C.A., with the president, Mrs. Donald Copson, in charge.

The meeting began with the opening ritual and roll call, after which official communications were read by the president. Committee chairmen gave their reports. The program chairman announced that each person would have a program within the next few weeks. The Ways and Means committee reported on the money-making activities which they have planned for the sorority. The social committee gave its report, stating that the preferential tea for rushees will be held Sunday, October 29, at the home of Mrs. George Getty, 2605 North Mercer street. The committee serving with her will be Mrs. Harry McOwen and Mrs. Harry Banks. On October 30 an installation dinner will be held at a dining room in New Wilmington, Mrs. Michael Zuk in charge of reservations and Mrs. James Uber the program. The service committee announced that special activities have been planned for each month of the year, the November event to be a surprise. The committee has planned a three-way program, the first of which is to be a scholarship fund to be set up to send one New Castle high school graduate to college or business college. Secondly, each month the sorority will perform a special charitable service and, as the third phase of the program, each individual will perform some service during the year.

It was decided to remove the names from the roll call of those members who are absent from three consecutive meetings without being excused.

This gathering was held in the form of a model meeting with special guests who are interested in joining the sorority being Miss Alyene Carrick, Mrs. Donald McCormick, Mrs. John P. Jones and Mrs. Irwin Stunkard.

During the program, Mrs. Howard Frew was the speaker, using the topic "Happiness Through Self-Analysis."

At the close of the meeting refreshments were served by the hostesses, Mrs. Robert Falen and Miss Olive Miller. The table was prettily decorated with fall leaves and fall colored candles in silver candelabra, with a low bowl of colorful dahlias centering the table.

The next meeting of the sorority will be held Wednesday, November 1, in the Green room of the Y.W.C.A.

Special guests included Mrs. Rose George, Mrs. Cimini and Mrs. Alice Bonfield.

Mrs. oBnfield later assisted her mother in serving a delicious lunch. Lovely fall flowers decorated the rooms and tables for the evening. Games were a pleasant diversion of the occasion.

On November 1 Mrs. Connie Cupido, 1008 Cunningham avenue, will entertain the club members.

Lazy Daisy Club

Members of the Lazy Daisy club were received Wednesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Jack Ellis, Harlansburg road.

A delicious halloween lunch was served at small tables, with the hostess' mother, Mrs. Fox, Mrs. James Dight and Mrs. Margaret Cozad as the special guests.

Mrs. Karl Landfried presided over the regular business meeting and later fancy work and a social time were enjoyed. Mrs. Lloyd Moore, Castlewood, will welcome the club members for the next meeting on November 15.

E. O. CANASTA CLUB WITH MRS. STENGER

The October meeting of the E. O. Canasta club was spent pleasantly at the home of Mrs. Jessie Stenger, Highland avenue, Tuesday evening.

A brief business meeting was held, at which time the ladies decided to meet at the Lawrence County T. B. society offices Monday evening to pack Christmas seals.

The remainder of the evening was spent playing canasta, with high score favors going to Mrs. W. L. Fulton, Mrs. Ben Ciccone, and Mrs. Russell Ficht.

A delicious lunch was served by the hostess, with attractive appointments being used. Mrs. Fulton was an aide in serving.

Mrs. Fulton will receive the club members at her home, North Cedar street, on November 21, for their next meeting.

Chrysolite Club

Chrysolite club members were entertained Wednesday evening in the club rooms, Division street.

Cards were played and high score prizes were captured by Mrs. William Cubellis, Mrs. John Fuleno and Mrs. A. J. Capezio.

The birthday of Mrs. Paul Domenick was honored and also the birthday and anniversary of Mrs. Anthony Croach. They received secret pal gifts.

A delicious lunch was served by the hostess, Mrs. Anthony Fair, with halloween decorations being used. Mrs. Philip Frasso, special guest, assisted the hostess. She received a gift.

November 1 is the meeting with Mrs. Paul Domenick in the club rooms.

S. and S. Club

Miss Nancy Jannetti, 707 East Long avenue, received members of the S. and S. club Wednesday evening.

Plans were discussed for a halloween masquerade to be held Tuesday, October 31, at the home of Miss Jilda DePolis, 736 Ridge street.

The remainder of the evening was spent in sewing. The club token was won by Miss Laura Tempesta. At a later hour the hostess served refreshments, aided by Helen Iozzi.

The next meeting will be held Wednesday, November 15, at the home of Miss Frances Capperino, 501 Florence avenue.

Unusual Charge Confronts Blonde

NEW YORK, Oct. 19—(INS)—Platinum-blonde Rita Alda has been order to leave the U.S. for concealing something—a most unusual occurrence in the life of the shapely, 24-year-old stripper.

A New York Federal judge told her yesterday to return to Canada after she admitted she failed to bare the fact she was born in Canada and instead claimed U.S. citizenship on entering the country last winter.

Rita demurely commented that this is the first time the law ever accused her of concealing anything. Usually, she said, it's the other way around.

Governor Dewey Says Charges 'Smear And Lie'

By LEO W. O'BRIEN
(I. N. S. Staff Correspondent)

KINGSTON, N. Y., Oct. 19.—Gov. Thomas E. Dewey told two Kingston audiences Wednesday that he intends to "rub the noses" of the Democratic candidates into their charge that Lt. Gov. Joe R. Hanley was paid off to step out of the governorship race.

Dewey declared that the charge is "a smear and a lie" and that the Democrats were unable to understand an honest man who could be in debt after 24 years in public service.

"I'm going to rub their noses into this latest dirty charge of theirs," he said, "until they can taste it. They will not get through regurgitating until after election."

Takes Up Charge

Dewey took up the Democratic charge that someone agreed to pay Hanley's debts.

"We have no Raskob (The late John J. Raskob, former national Democratic chairman) to pay $200,000 as was done in the 1928 Democratic campaign for governor, as reported by both boss Flynn and Jim Farley.

"I wish we had somebody interested enough in good government to help Joe Hanley."

Dewey asserted repeatedly during his 10-speech tour of the Catskill mountain area that the Democrats were "liars and unfit to hold public office."

Earlier at Hudson, Dewey charged the talk of a crooked deal between himself and Hanley is "the latest smear campaign by the crookedest crowd of smear experts whose alumni are in Sing Sing, Dannemora and other state institutions."

How To Grow Through Prayer

JESUS TAUGHT US TO PRAY IN SECRET TO GOD, OUR FATHER.

Scripture—Matthew 6:5-15, Luke 11:1-13; Philippians 1:3-11; Colossi ans 4:2-4.

Prayer in secret.

"I tell you, Ask, and it will be given you; seek, and you will find; knock, and it will be opened to you."—Luke 11:9.

By NEWMAN CAMPBELL

Someone in World War II said "There are no atheists in fox holes." When men are desperately in need of help, with no human near to give it, even the toughest and least believing is driven to call upon his Maker.

It is true also of those who never experienced the terrors of war, persecution or other dangers. When troubles come, nearly all of us resort to prayer. Why is it, then, that so many of us forget to pray daily? When the sun shines for us, we apparently forget God—using our Father in Heaven as a last resort when disaster rsitkes.

We wouldn't treat a human friend that way, would we? Why, then, do we act so to God?

At the beginning of Jesus' mission, He taught His disciples how they should pray, and His words were intended for all Christians everywhere. His words on this subject occur in the Sermon on the Mount.

"And when thou prayest, thou shalt not be as the hypocrites are; for they love to pray standing in the synagogues and on the corners of the streets, that they may be seen of men. Verily I say unto you, They have their reward."

Are there such people in the world today? Possibly even ministers of God—good men—who grow so enamored of the words that flow so eloquently from their lips that they forget Jesus' commands, and pray "that they may be seen of men." They get their reward, as Jesus said. People tell them how beautiful their prayers are, but are such prayers likely to be heard and answered as are those which are the outpourings of a soul asking help to live as our Father wishes us to live, or to receive strength to bear some great sorrow?

"But thou, when thou prayest, enter into thy closet, and when thou hast shut thy door, pray to thy Father which is in secret; and thy Father which seeth in secret shall reward thee openly."

Then the Lord told them how to pray, simply, reverently, to the Father of us all:

"Our Father which art in heaven, Hallowed be Thy name.

"Thy kingdom come. Thy will be done in earth, as it is in heaven.

"Give us this day our daily bread."

Just as simply and naturally as that—even asking that we may have food to sustain our bodies while we are on earth.

"Forgive us our debts as we forgive our debtors." Can we indeed forgive those who hurt us? If not, why should we expect God to forgive us our sins?

Jesus told a parable then about a man who had unexpected guests. He went to a friend's house—although it was midnight—and knocked.

The friend answered, but when the man said he wanted bread, the friend said all his household were in bed for the night, and he couldn't supply the need. The man knocked again and again, and his friend rose up and gave him what he asked for.

"And I say unto you," said Jesus, "Ask, and it shall be given you: seek, and ye shall find; knock and it shall be opened unto you."

If a child asked his human father for bread, would the father give him instead a stone? If he asked for fish, would he give the child a serpent?

"If ye then, being evil, know how to give good gifts unto your children: how much more shall your heavenly Father give the Holy Spirit to them that ask Him?"

We need not always be asking our heavenly Father for help in our prayers. We can thank Him for all our mercies—for the kindness of people we meet and for our friends; for the beautiful world we live in, for the goodness of human beings, the majority, in spite of the hard-heartedness of many, and the terrible cruelties from which the world has suffered these many years.

God is good, and His goodness is manifest in many, many ways in the everyday life of all peoples. Paul, in spite of imprisonment and almost certain martyrdom, thanked God in his letters to his friends and fellow Christians in the churches which he and others had established.

"I thank God upon every remembrance of you," he wrote to the church at Philippi. "Always in every prayer of mine for you all making request with joy.

"Being confident of this very thing, that he which hath begun a good work in you will perform it until the day of Jesus Christ."

FORD MOTOR COMPANY'S

New Automatic Drive

Makes its Bow in the new 1951 MERCURY

"Smoother, simpler, more efficient!" —that's how engineers hail this amazing new automatic drive that's coming soon in the new 1951 MERCURY.

MAYBE you've read about it. Surely you've heard about it. It's the amazing new automatic transmission developed by Ford Motor Company.

Now you're going to see it, thrill to it, for the first time in any car, in the new 1951 Mercury.

Called Merc-O-Matic

Merc-O-Matic is the name. And of this you can be sure: there'll be nothing like it on the road! The thrilling new 1951 Mercury will be making a debut in our showrooms in a very few days. And once you see it, we think you'll agree:

For "the drive of your life," it's the new 1951 Mercury with Merc-O-Matic Drive!

What is Merc-O-Matic Drive? It's a completely new, completely automatic drive developed under the direction of Ford Motor Company and Borg-Warner transmission engineers, and made to order for Mercury's great, V-type, 8-cylinder engine. It's s-m-o-o-t-h-e-r, simpler, more efficient!

Makes every driver an expert

Naturally, there's no clutch or gearshift. But there the resemblance to other drives ends. For this new Merc-O-Matic Drive is different. Even the easier-to-read indicator panel is different. The drive selector is so arranged that a person accustomed to a standard shift will feel perfectly at home. And if you're familiar with other drives, you'll notice immediately the big difference in the way this new 1951 Mercury with Merc-O-Matic performs.

There's no "mushiness." With Merc-O-Matic Drive you get instant, certain response. You start in one smooth sweep of power. No tugging as gears change. There's a "down-shift" for extra hill-climbing and passing power; just press the accelerator smartly to the floor. And Merc-O-Matic is cool operating — no uncomfortable heat in the passenger compartment.

There's no "runaway" downhill. You are in control all the time with the engine's compression at work to save your brakes.

There's no stalling in traffic. Park on a hill if you like. You're safe. Merc-O-Matic Drive locks when in Parking position.

Yes, Merc-O-Matic is going to make you forget all you ever knew about automatic transmissions. This is it—the easy, sure, safe, s-m-o-o-t-h "drive of your life." And—it's extremely thrifty.

Dozens of New Features in 1951 Mercury

But Merc-O-Matic is only part of the great new Mercury for 1951. There's a new look from end to end . . . beautiful new styling . . . rich, new fabrics and colors to make Mercury for 1951 one of the smartest cars on the road.

New safety, too—the new rear window alone gives you more than 1,000 square inches of safe viewing area. Greater comfort in a new, improved ventilating system which brings you just the amount of fresh air you want, when you want it, and where you want it.

It's the plus car of the year—plus on beauty, plus on comfort, plus on safety, plus on economy—plus on everything but price!

All that and the great new Merc-O-Matic Drive, too. Yes, you'll want to see these new Mercurys. So watch Mercury showrooms for the new 1951 Mercury with Merc-O-Matic for "the drive of your life"—for "the buy of your life."

"It has always been the first aim of Mercury and its dealers to bring you each year a better car, better in every way that engineering, research, and experience can achieve.

"For 1951 we are proud to present the great new Ford Motor Company automatic transmission—Merc-O-Matic Drive—developed by what we regard as the greatest team of engineers in the country today. We think this automatic drive is as efficient and as reliable as the automobile industry knows how to build today.

"We sincerely believe that the new 1951 Mercury, with its Merc-O-Matic Drive, its new style and comfort, will be the greatest of all Mercurys."

Pleads Guilty To Charges Of Aiding Reds

NEW YORK, Oct. 19.—(INS)—David Greenglass, 26, a former member of the Young Communist League, pleaded guilty in New York federal Court Wednesday to charges of conspiring to transmit atomic bomb secrets to Russia.

The former army sergeant who had worked at the atomic research center at Los Alamos, N. M., during the war, pleaded to an indictment which declared he received $500 for turning over secret information to Russia.

The maximum penalty which may be imposed for transmission of atomic secrets to a foreign power is death.

Greenglass, a resident of New York City, was arrested last June and returned to Santa Fe, N. M., where a federal grand jury indicted him on July 6.

The jury heard testimony from FBI agents that Greenglass had delivered atomic secrets in June, 1945, to Harry Gold and Anatoli Yakovlev.

Gold, a Philadelphia chemist, had admitted to FBI agents that he had delivered to Russia the atomic secrets stolen by Dr. Klaus Fuchs of Britain. Yakovlev was Soviet vice consul in New York, and Fuchs is serving a 14-year prison term in Britain.

Greenglass had been held in prison in default of $100,000 bond.

Attorney General Margiotti Is Ill

HARRISBURG, Oct. 19—(INS)—State Attorney General Charles J. Margiotti is confined today to his Harrisburg hotel suite after suffering a slight heart attack.

His physician, Dr. Kenneth P. Quickel, said the 59-year-old cabinet officer's condition was satisfactory after the attack yesterday but that he will have to "take it easy" for awhile to effect recovery.

Margiotti was named attorney general by Gov. James H. Duff July 5 and the following day the commonwealth intervened in the "free work" probe in Pittsburgh. Margiotti has been directing a similar investigation in Philadelphia.

Deny Report Stassen Hears From Stalin

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 19—(INS)—A spokesman for Harold E. Stassen has denied a report that the University of Pennsylvania president had received a reply from Premier Stalin to his proposal for peace talks with the Soviet leader in Moscow.

The report appeared in a syndicated column by Robert S. Allen.

Stassen, former Minnesoto governor, said merely:

"I do not care to make any comment whatsoever regarding the Allen story."

The spokesman said flatly there was nothing to the report and explained Stassen has had absolutely no contact with the Soviet embassy or any other Soviet representative before or after the Stassen letter was sent to Stalin.

Allen said in his column that Stassen had Stalin's approval for a Moscow meeting before announcing his proposal to visit the Soviet leader two weeks ago.

On October 4, Stassen said in Washington that he had written to Stalin, with whom he had conferred once before, proposing another meeting on steps to achieve "A Just World Peace."

Stassen, who twice aspired for the Republican presidential nomination, said at the same time, however. That Russia would have to change its current course if the "drift toward war" was to be halted.

Stassen's spokesman said he did not expect a reply for at least another week.

Clever Pageant Honors State Week At Ellwood

If William Penn could live again he would surely feel that he had not lived and worked in vain for the state of Pennsylvania.

Proof of this statement could be found in the display of love for the state by citizens and school children of Ellwood City on Wednesday evening. Nearly 300 elementary and high school children staged a near-professional performance in a Pennsylvania Week pageant at Lincoln high school stadium at 7:45 o'clock. Several parts of the program were presented by the chorus, dramatic club, gym team, and band of the high school.

Story Of Penn

The narrator, Arno Scoccio, welcomed the crowd of nearly 3,000 people, and related the story of William Penn as the actors pantomimed the story on the field. Penn and his followers then were seated on the main platform and viewed the present life of Ellwood City as the pageant centered around the theme "Ellwood City is a Good Place to Work, Live and Play."

School days from grade school to graduation day were depicted by the youngsters. Stressing the fact that our state is noted for its religious sects, three children carried a large Bible, cross, and star onto the field, denoting the Protestant, Catholic and Jewish faiths. Work accomplished by the severel Service Clubs was displayed to the interest of the crowd.

Of particular interest were the "Men in Silver" who, with their statue-like characterizations portrayed farming, fishing, mining, lumbering and manufacturing in Pennsylvania. They finished their part of the program with a picture of the men who made the "Dream" Highway not a dream but a reality.

To show how the people play, a young couple performed with their roller skates on a platform. Hunting, fishing and playgrounds for children are all available in the community. In conclusion, the band formed a Keystone on the darkened field, with only the lights on their instruments for illumination. As an impressive finale, the band and a group of students formed an American flag with lights, while the "Men in Silver" held a flag.

Only Performance

J. Ellis Bell, general chairman of the pageant, stated today that as far as was known the program was "the only performance of its kind staged by high school students in the state during the week."

Miss Elizabeth McKnight and Miss Marjorie Lostetter of New Castle were in charge of the dramatic presentation, while Paul Gehm conducted the chorus singing. The band was directed by I. Barnes Weinstein, with the lighting under the supervision of Howell Williams and Ralph Herge. James Ansell, gym instructor, directed the "Men in Silver." The entire script was written by David Wiley, Peggy Elder, Gloria Giovaninni and David Klindienst.

R. J. Schill, of the Ellwood City Chamber of Commerce, was host to 180 employees and their wives of the Aetna-Standard Engineering office staff of Youngstown who will soon make their homes in Ellwood. During the afternoon the group toured the Aetna-Standard, high school, business section, Mary Evans hospital, new home development, and were honored guests at a dinner at the Country Club. Mrs. Lester McClelland, of New Castle, was a hostess representing the music culture of the community, while Anthony Casbero and Emil Branstetter of New Castle provided music at the dinner. Quoting Mr. Schill, "the group from Youngstown were thrilled with the pageant. It was one of the finest displays of high school talent seen recently."

Ain't Nature Wonderful

CLOVE VALLEY, DUTCHESS COUNTY, N. Y., Oct. 18—Annually at this season of the year, I am reminded that the best things in life are free, even of amusement tax.

The grand and glorious west has the Golden Gate and the Rocky Mountains. The far northwest has Yellowstone Park. The mid-northwest has the Great Lakes and the south has bourbon.

But the northeast — the New England states and a few neighboring states along the Atlantic seaboard, has something just as spectacular. The northeast has autumn, surely the greatest show on earth for a few gaudy weeks each year.

Show at Its Height

The show is at its height now, beautiful and breath-taking with every mountain slope and every hedge row burning bright in the Indian summer air.

Only a month ago these rolling hills and little valleys were undiluated green as far as the eye could see. But the green is receeding today before a rush of yellows that range from pale gold to russet and of reds that vary from pure crimson to deepest maroon.

Fire is a fearsome thing. But this is a fire without fear that consumes the whole countryside today. It is racing up the slopes on leaves of every maple and oak and spreading across the valleys sumac sets fire to dogwood and dogwood, in turn, applies the torch to the woodbine and the Virginia creeper.

The world's baedekers shower superlatives like confetti on the cathedrals of Europe and innumerable Americans annually beat their way to Victoria Falls in darkest Africa, to the vale of Kashmir and to the valley of the Amazon because they are hard to get to and among the world's wonders.

One of Seven Wonders

It isn't too difficult to reach the northeastern section of the United States, even by thumb. And the native traveler doesn't need a passport to witness what is surely one of the seven wonders of the world, autumn in this vicinity.

I feel certain the Hanging Gardens of Bablyon couldn't hold a patch to one sugar maple gone with autumn, or an oak tree teched with frost. The oaks and the maples make a holy show of themselves, the one glowing like dark rubies or sparkling burgundy and the other the bright, dazzling red of the sun through old stained glass.

The uninhibited maples take fire in a variety of dazzling patterns. A single limb of an otherwise emerald tree will flame like a torch thrust carelessly into the green.

Or more spectacularly still, only a half dozen leaves at the end of each limb will blazon with color like a danger signal affixed to the end of a logging truck. The effect is that of a Christmas tree decked in scarlet baubles.

The Virginia creeper makes no effort to hide its light under a bushel, either. It crawls along the ground like a scarlet carpet and throws a shawl over old stone fences. It winds itself around old pines like a giddy necktie.

Gray squirrels flick through the fallen leaves and I have seen a half dozen pheasant cocks whose plumage is as flamboyant as the landscape. And I am going set a spell now and read Keat's "Ode to Autumn."

Ain't nature wonderful?

Register 1,264 Physicians And Dentists In State

HARRISBURG, Oct. 19—(INS)—Registration of 1,264 physicians, dentists and veterinarians in Pennsylvania last Monday was reported today by State Selective Service Director Henry M. Gross.

The special draft registration applied to medical men trained at government expense or deferred from military service to complete training during the war and served less than 21 months in the armed forces.

The total includes 936 physicians, 236 dentists and 92 veterinarians, Gross said.

A slight readjustment probably will be made, he added, since some Pennsylvanians might have registered in other states and out-of-staters might have registered here.

Gross estimated several weeks ago that Pennsylvania probably will supply 127 doctors as its share of an initial national quota of 1552.

MANY NEVER SUSPECT CAUSE OF BACKACHES

As we get older, stress and strain, overexertion, excessive smoking or exposure to cold sometimes slows down kidney function. This may lead many folks to complain of nagging backache, loss of pep and energy, headaches and dizziness. Getting up nights or frequent passages may result from minor bladder irritations due to cold, dampness or dietary indiscretions.

If your discomforts are due to these causes, don't wait, try Doan's Pills, a mild diuretic. Used successfully by millions for over 50 years. While these symptoms may often otherwise occur, it's amazing how many times Doan's give happy relief — help the 15 miles of kidney tubes and filters flush out waste. Get Doan's Pills today!

Your New Social Security

By MYRON MILBOUER
(Manager of the New Castle Social Security Office)

A man came into the office the other day to get a social security card. I'd say, from the looks of him, that he was in his late fifties. Of course, I now know his exact age, but when you're handling social security cards and numbers day-in-and-day-out you get in the habit of never mentioning ages even when you don't mention names. That's because the information on a social security card application is not for public information.

Well, this man was pushing 60. He was a farm worker, has been all his life, except for service in World War I. He was in the Argonne, but his only casualty was a frostbitten toe.

As I said, he came in to get a social security card. Never had a social security number. Never needed one up to now. A farmhand all his civilian life, he worked regularly for one farm operator. Had worked for the same one for years—ever since he was blown off his own acres in the "dust bowl" back in the thirties.

I could assure him that his cash wages would begin counting toward old-age and survivors insurance benefits on the very first day of January. There was no doubt that he had established a "service relationship" with his employer by working for him continuously in the calendar quarter beginning in October. Moreover there was no doubt that he would be working for the same man on a full-time basis for at least 60 days during the calendar quarter beginning on New Year's Day. And his cash wages in a calendar quarter are always $50—and more.

As he put his social security card in his oversized, old-fashioned pocket-book and snapped it shut, he started for the office door, then turned and said:

"I reckon I'm good for a heap more'n a year and a half of work. The missus and me'll have them insurance benefit checks comin' by R. F. D. every month after I'm 65 or more. Wasn't like that when I was a youngster. I can remember an old coupie livin' near us. One son had gone to the Klondike and never came back. The other joined up in the Spanish-American war and died of "corned willie" in Tampa. Those old folks didn't get social security. One day they got a ride over the hill to the poorhouse. That poorhouse has been shut down now—thanks to social security."

City Rescue Mission Helps Lost Persons Refind Selves

"But for the grace of God, that man might be me or my son."

These words were spoken by Judge W. Walter Braham at the kick-off dinner for the 1950 Community Chest campaign over a week ago. The judge was dealing with the services rendered by the City Rescue Mission when he made this statement.

He meant that perhaps these men, who are given food, clothing, shelter and spiritual help by the mission are no worse than the rest of us, but have been driven to what they have become by circumstances beyond their control.

Given Food And Shelter

These men—bums, tramps, transients or whatever they may be—are given food and shelter at the City Rescue Mission on South Mercer street, when they come to the city.

Taking care of these persons serves a two-fold purpose for the community. It takes the transients off the street and eliminates begging, etc. But probably more important, it gives these men an opportunity to refind themselves.

When they are taken in by the mission the men are told that they may remain only three days. An effort is made to place the men in temporary work so that they may earn some money. For those that desire, an effort is made to place them in permanent positions.

Try To Help Men

The big job of the mission is to try and help these men become useful citizens. The mission believes that the only way to do this is through religion. Religious services are conducted every night in the week.

During the month of September 343 men stayed at the mission. These men ate a total of 950 meals. There is on an average of 15 men at the mission every night in the week.

The mission consists of a service room, writing room, dormitory on the third floor with 21 beds and cooking and table facilities, also on the third floor.

About one-third of the total budget of the Rescue Mission is supplied by the Community Chest. The remainder comes from a group of churches and individuals in the community.

Besides the services to transients the mission also distributes clothing to the needy persons of the community every Tuesday and supplies meals for the needy at Christmas time.

Bessemer Asks Aid For Street

Ellwood City Also Asks Assistance

In a request to the Lawrence county commissioners, Bessemer boro asks county aid in making a street improvement in the boro.

Frank Alshurk, a resident of Ellwood City, appeared before the board on Wednesday and asked if anything could be done to improve 14th street lying half on the Wayne township line. Half of the street is in the township and half in the boro. He said little attention had been paid to it and asked if something could be done to make it more passable.

MOTION COURT

Motion court was held Wednesday morning by Judge John G. Lamoree.

HOLD PAYMENT

The county commissioners are holding up payment of $6000 to the State Highway deparement for a share of the damages on the improvements of the highway from Ellwood City to Portersville.

The county promised $6000 aid when the state said the damages would cost some $27,000. They now claim the state has paid only $8200 damages and believe $6000 is too large a percentage of the bill.

County Solicitor William McElwee, Jr., was instructed to write to the department and ascertain what the total damages are. If they are as they were first set out to be the county will pay. Otherwise it believes adjustment is in order.

PONDS PROVE WORTH IN FIRE PROTECTION

Lawrence county farmers who have built ponds observed Fire Prevention Week October 8 to 14 in a substantial way. Most ponds were built to be used for several purposes, one of the most important of which is fire protection for farm buildings. Naturally, everyone hopes he will have no serious fire and that the pond will never have to be used for that purpose. Ponds have proved their worth in fire prevention right along. On a number of farms they have supplied the water for saving farm buildings.

Fire companies have been able to use most of these ponds in emergency to good effect. To be most effective, ponds must be of easy access. If located back of, or too near the buildings, entrance to them may be blocked quickly by flames. A good, all-weather road leading to the pond is another important consideration.

The pump on a fire truck can "pull" water only 10 or 15 feet but it can "push" it as far as a half mile if there is enough hose. Most trucks carry only 20 feet of suction hose and half of this must be in the water. Hence, the road should extend to the water's edge.

A platform or some other device to keep the end of the suction hose off the bottom of the pond should be provided. Pumps could be ruined by sucking sand and silt off the bottom of the pond.

GIVE COWS GOOD CARE TO PREVENT MASTITIS

Housing of cows for the winter means more work for the dairyman and carries the possibility of more trouble for the cows.

Steps must be taken to prevent mastitis in the herd. That means making the cows comfortable with plenty of bedding and controlled ventilation. Proper milking methods also can help to prevent mastitis.

A milking machine with a vacuum too high or a pulsator working too fast invites trouble from mastitis. Using a strip cup on every cow to detect abnormal milk is a "must" for maintaining proper herd health.

Remodeling the barn during the winter is difficult, but some attention can be given to modernizing stanchions and stalls so that the cows will not tramp on their own udders or the udders of the cows on either side. Slippery walks and high sills also can cause injured udders. At little sand or limestone on the walks will help to keep the cows from slipping.

Seek To Settle Warehouse Strike

PITTSBURGH, Oct. 19.—(INS)—A union conference was scheduled today in an effort to settle the AFL Warehouse and Teamsters strike that has kept 84 stores of the Kroger company closed in the tri-state area.

A union spokesman said that teamsters joint council 40 officials will meet with officials of the AFL Amalgamated Food Employes, local 590, and that peace prospects "look good."

Some 900 members of local 590, comprising clerks and other store employes, claim they are locked out because teamsters local 635 refuses to return to work until they are paid for five days time lost when teamsters local 249 struck in a wage dispute.

Pittsburgh has been newspaperless since union mailers walked out the first of the month in a wage dispute with publishers of the city's three daily newspapers.

The walkout has idled some 2,000 non-striking newspaper employes.

Although he began to earn his living when he was only nine years old, he managed to acquire an education by extensive reading, and had a story published at an early age. His play, "The Lower Depths," had a run of almost two years in Berlin, and he became world famous. His "My Fellow-Traveler" and "Twenty-Six Men and a Girl" are said to be little short of masterpieces. He wrote a number of autobiographies —"Childhood," "In the World," "Remembrances of My Youth," and a volume of "Recollections" which includes "Recollections of Tolstoy." "The Artamonov's Business" "Decadence" and "The Bystander" are novels of fiction about social problems. He died June 14, 1936.

Born in Los Angeles Sept. 1, 1900, Betty Blythe first studied voice for opera in Paris, but soon began to make pictures in the screen's silent days. During this period she made 'Over the Top," "Potash and Perlmutter in Hollywood," "Queen of Sheba," "Chu Chin Chow," 'Southern Love," "She," etc. Since talkies came in she has continued her career in "The Scarlet Letter," "The Miracle Kid," and more recently in "Where Are Your Children?", "Docks of New York," "Joe Palooka," "Champ," "The Undercover Woman" and "Jiggs and Maggie in Society."

An attractive way to serve melon is to cut it into round slices and then pare off the rind from each slice. Place melon rings on dessert plates and fill centers with berries or other fresh fruit. Or use the melon rings for a salad and fill centers with creamed cottage cheese and garnish with sprays of watercress; serve with salad dressing.

undertaker, who was called to the scene, told of removing Mr. Bookamer to the Ellwood City hospital, and of taking him to the office of Dr. Helling, where Mr. Bookamer was pronounced dead. After the body was removed to his undertaking rooms, Mr. Patton stated that a further examination was made of the remains, revealing additional injuries, which showed a crushed chest, fracture of the spine, fracture of the right shoulder, and left upper arm, with deep lacerations of the head.

Pvt. Joseph Howe of the Pennsylvania State Police, told of being summoned to the scene, and of interviewing Mr. Morabito, who stated that he had come on Mr. Bookamer's body lying on the highway on Route 351. Two men had been standing in the center of the highway, Mr. Morabito had told the officer, and they scattered to either side of the highway. Moments later he saw Mr. Bookamer's body lying on the road, and was unable to keep from running over it. He told the officer that he had gone up the road about 150 feet and then turned around and came back to the scene. He testified that he was going about 30 miles per hour. Mr. Howe told of interviewing other witnesses. He stated that an information charging the driver with driving too fast for conditions had been preferred before Justice of the Peace Dellenbach of Park Gate. He measured the marks on the highway, where Mr. Bookamer's body had been dragged, which was a distance of 21 feet, he stated.

Witnesses Hear Argument

Mrs. Levada Stevens, of R. D. 2, Ellwood City, who resides two doors away from the Park Gate Grill, from whence the victim had come, stated that she had just gone upstairs to prepare to go to bed and heard talking in front of her home. She said she looked out and saw a man lying on the highway, and just then a car came along and ran over it. She said the body was lying across the highway, with the head about in the center of the road, and the other part of the body lying toward the opposite side of the highway. She stated that it was rather foggy out. She said she had known Mr. Bookamer, who was a mute, and that she had recognized his voice, making a peculiar sound characteristic of him. After a short period of time, she said she saw the car which had struck him, come back and pull up in front of the Park Gate Grill.

Mrs. Carl Stoops and her daughter, Miss Alberta Stoops, told of hearing sounds as though an argument was going on in front of their home. They did not pay much attention, but when the sounds continued, Mrs. Stoops stated that she had turned out the light in the kitchen of her home, so she would not be seen in the light, and had gone to her front door. Her daughter, who was looking out the window had cried, "Here comes a car," and just then she heard a very loud noise when the body was struck. After the first crash, there was a noise like a car running on a flat tire. She saw the tail light of the car go by, and it was going very fast she stated. She went outside, and just then she saw a man come up to the boy and say, "He hit him and broke his neck." That man, she stated was Merle Francis. A moment later John O. Hill, a neighbor came up, and knelt down beside the body and took the man's pulse. He said the man is dead. She then went in the house and got a flashlight to flag down traffic, while her daughter summoned help and went to the home of Leo Murphy, the constable, who came to the scene.

She said she looked up the road as far as she could see, but failed to see the car which had struck Mr. Bookamer.

John O. Hill told of seeing Mr. Bookamer in the Park Gate Grill. He was drinking a bottle of beer, and made motions in sign language that he wanted someone to take him home, but that no one had offered to. He went out to go home, and had just crossed the highway, when a car came by. A moment later, he heard a crash, and went to the spot where Mr. Bookamer's body lay. He identified two of the men he had seen in the grill as Charles Magee and Ralph Gibbons.

Saw Men Fighting

Merle Francis, who resides at Wiley Hill, R. D. 2, Ellwood City, told of seeing Mr. Bookamer in the Grill, and said that he was engaged in an argument with three young men. They came out of the Grill, and as he crossed the road to get to his car, the argument was continued. These three men were trying to strike Mr. Bookamer, but he ran into the ball field across the road from the Grill and got away from them. He saw him going up through the field, and then a moment later, he heard the crash as the car struck Bookamer's body. He did not see him come back onto the highway, though, he said.

Eugene V. Morabito, of 315 Fountain avenue, Ellwood City; and Miss Patricia Kimmel, of 824 Bridge street, Ellwood City, told of coming from the Wolverine Drivein, an eating place. They said they had come around a bend in the highway, and as they neared the Park Gate Grill, saw two men standing in the center of the road, who ran to opposite sides of the highway. They then saw an object lying on the highway. Morabito said he saw the body immediately afterwards, lying in the roadway, and that he had run over it. It was quite foggy he said, and although he knew there is a 25-mile an hour speed zone at this point, that he was going around 30 miles per hour.

He said that he is 18 years of age and had been driving a car for two years. The car was a Chrysler New Yorker coupe, and had good brakes. He was driving on low beam, he said. After running over the body, he said he had gone up the road about 150 feet, looking for a place to turn around, and had then come back and parked in front of the Park Gate Grill. He then went to the Ellwood City hospital, where he talked with the officers.

The jury, which heard the evidence in the case, was composed of Charles H. Smith, George J. Yetzer, James P. Menelce, Robert G. Dambaugh, Howard E. Wilson, and Ernest B. Moyer. They found that Mr. Bookamer had come to his death from injuries received when struck by the auto driven by Eugene V. Morabito, on Route 351, about 12:45 a.m., October 1. They recommended that the incident be further investigated as the testimony of the witnesses was most conflicting.

McBride Post In Anniversary

Thirtieth Birthday To Be Celebrated

Cpl. Harry L. McBride Post No. 522, Veterans of Foreign Wars, is observing its 30th anniversary this week and preparations have been made by Commander Wendell Morrison and his committee for a big celebration which will take place Saturday evening starting at 8 o'clock in the Post Home, West Grant street.

There will be dancing during the evening, including round and square dancing, and a lunch.

The event is being arranged for all members and their wives, members of the auxiliary and members of the Tri-County Council and their wives.

The post was formed at a meeting held in city council chambers when Past National Commander Robert A. Woodside, of Pittsburgh, was present. Commander Morrison hopes to have many of the old past commanders of the post present Saturday evening, including Coroner Charles E. Allen, the first commander of the post.

After the enjoyable program was presented, a refreshing lunch was served by the visiting society.

OUTDOOR RAMBLES with N. R. CASILLO

MURDERERS' ROW

Highway route 285 skirting the southern environs of Pymatuning Waterfowl Refuge has somehow acquired the name of Murderers' Row. Despite the incongruity of the name it does play a part in the duck shooting of the region.

The opening day of the current waterfowl season at noon last Friday (very appropriately the 13th) was typical. Hunters began arriving long before daylight, parking their cars at what they thought to be strategic points. Many of them unloaded cartop boats with which they invaded the swamp area stretching interminably south of the highway.

It was a jovial crowd, apparently minding not at all the really crowded conditions on that chosen stretch of highway.

Waterfowl of various species began flying over, well out of range of any but anti-aircraft guns, it may be added, long before the opening hour. Most of them seemed intent on getting to their various destinations in a hurry. Once, however, the clangor of a flock of Canadian geese caused each and every one of the waiting hunters to scan the heavens. Shortly, the straggling flock of deploying geese came into view over a row of trees, their wings sailing for a landing. One end of the long wavering line was well within range of some of the hunters who could do nothing but stare helplessly and futilely at the disappearing birds.

Await Expectantly

Some minutes before the zero hour most of the hunters loaded their guns and waited expectantly both for the hour and for any unsuspecting waterfowl or a reasonable facsimile thereof, to come over.

One trigger happy, or to be less harsh, let's call him, nervous hunter, could not restrain himself any longer. A circling ringbill gull caught the lethal charge sent in his direction and it started to tumble down for the count. That apparently was a signal for other nimrods to open up. Well, it was like the chain reaction we hear so much about in this atomic age. In a split second nearly all of the hunters in the vicinity of the gull killer heralded the opening hour with a heavy barrage of gun fire.

The already very much defunct gull absorbed several more charges of chilled lead before it hit the ground a few feet from where I stood.

Somewhat Amazed

My amazement knew no bounds when a couple of hunters rushed out of an improvised blind and yelled, "It's mine, it's mine!" The kidding heaped on the head of the one who succeeded in retrieving the gull was good to behold. But, he would not relinquish his prize until he was convinced of his mistake.

Late that afternoon, an hour before sunset to be exact, when the shooting ceased, the ground in some sections of Murderers' Row was actually covered with spent shotgun shells. The kill? Practically negligible. Indeed, seemingly the ducks get as much kick out of the whole business as the gunners themselves. However, the ducks run the gauntlet twice and frequently four times a day going and coming from their feeding grounds. Well, any absent-minded bird flying too low pays the penalty. Even the uncanny geese flying well beyond the range of even the most powerful shotguns occasionally lose one or more members of the flock.

What a surprised and outraged lot of hunters there would be if the waterfowl could only return their fire. Imagine a big flock of geese spraying the coverts and blinds harboring alleged hunters with a hail of lead. It would do my heart good.

Mary Garden Tells How To Gain Grand Opera Success

(Renowned opera star Mary Garden returns soon to America—scene of some of her greatest triumphs—as an advisor to the National Arts Foundation. In the following article written expressly for International News Service she says that marriage, smoking and drinking must be avoided if a girl is to achieve success in opera—but, Miss Garden thinks all three are permissible once the singer "has arrived".)

By MARY GARDEN
Famous Opera Star

(Written Expressly for International News Service.)

PARIS, Oct. 19.—It takes more than a beautiful voice for a girl to become a great opera star.

She must have youth, good sense, a level head and be willing to work very hard. She must forego smoking, drinking and night clubs until she arrives. Then she can do as she pleases. But even then, remember it's not easy to stay on top.

Above all she must not think of marriage until her success is assured and then perhaps she had better not at all. You know there are two great careers for a girl, opera or marriage. Either is a full-time job.

Someone asked me the other day how old I was. No sensible woman is going to tell that. I said that I'm as old as I look and act.

Last Opera In 1930

If I look and act young after 30 years as an opera star (and I sang my last opera in 1930) I owe it to two things: simple living and no marriage. I have had no husbands to run after me, and believe me he would have had to run.

I made my debut in April, 1900 in "Louise". I took the star's part in the middle of the opera as an understudy. After that I sang continuously for 30 years. Twenty of the 30 were in America. I am Scottish but I love America. I love Americans and particularly American women. They are strong and resourceful and can do anything. They just drag the American men after them.

If it weren't for the women, the men never would have known what opera is. Women have dragged the men to the opera and now they like it.

Why, once I remember that I was singing "Thais" in Paris years ago. My sister was at the opera and heard an American in the next box complaining bitterly to his wife because she had forced him to come to "Thais" and he had wanted to go to the Follies Bergere that evening. In the first act of the opera my part called for me to take off my coat.

Very Decollette

Beneath the coat I was wearing a very decollete gown. My sister said that when the coat came off the man sat up very straight and said:

"This is great. Boy, this is great." And to his wife, "give me your opera glasses." And he kept them till the end.

I am going to America as the opera advisor to the National Arts Foundation. I will lecture and make voice auditions of young singers in 17 cities. Out of the young hopefuls, we plan to pick two of the best voices we hear and then the foundation will send them to Europe for further training.

I think we will look to America for the great opera of the future. I am sure Mr. Rudolph Bing will do a wonderful job with the Metropolitan Opera company. After all, you need a business man to run an opera company—not a singer.

Tryouts Tonight For Rotary Show

If you have any talent for entertaining, they're looking for you in the basement of the North Street school tonight.

The Rotary Club is planning a home town show on November 9-10-11 with Lee Winters directing and the call for talent is out.

Singers, high and low, jugglers, dancers of all flavors, flute blowers, comedians, Swiss bell ringers, anything for a laugh or for entertainment and Thursday night is tryout night.

The show is entirely local. The talent will be local, the director is local, the Rotary club is local, and the proceeds will go to the charity fund of the Rotary Club.

The show will be a double barreled affair. The first half will be a minstrel show, one of the old time youall affairs with black face men, a circle of singers and an interlocutor with whammy.

The second half will be a variety or vaudeville show and that's where you come in.

The show may not rival "South Pacific" or "Call Me Madam" but it certainly is going to be an evening of hilarity and a touch of corn.

Now that you know all the details, why not step around to the North Street school tonight at 7:30 and tell the folks what you can do. Better yet, show them what you can do, and get into the show.

Two Jumps Made At City Airport By CAP Members

Two young pilots of the Civil Air Patrol—Chuck Miller and Dick Shaffer — made parachute jumps before a large crowd at the New Castle Airport Sunday afternoon.

The event came off without a hitch with beautiful weather. Pilot Harry Aven took off with the two chutists riding piggy-back. The plane climbed to 4000 feet. Shaffer, making his first jump, went off first.

Miller, having his second jump, planned a delayed jump so as to pass shaffer who had opened his chute upon exit from the plane. Miller dropped approximately 2500 feet before he released his parachute.

Miller suffered a slight injury on his chin from a thorn bush. Shaffer landed without a mishap.

Lt. Ralph Reider, operation officer of the CAP, stated that there are no further plans as yet for future jumps, but urges all senior and cadet members to attend the next Tuesday night meeting to plan for further operations.

"Price of Freedom," an exceptional as well as timely film, was shown by Mrs. Ralph Eakin. Using halloween appointments, lunch was served by Mrs. Genevieve Fulton and Mrs. Edith Porter, hostesses.

Around Hollywood

By JAMES PADGITT
(International News Service Staff Correspondent)

HOLLYWOOD, Oct. 16.—Some Hollywood producers would not be caught dead looking at television, but Harry Popkin, the head of Cardinal Pictures, is different.

Popkin is so fired up over television that in his last picture, "Champagne for Caesar", he exposed all phases of that thriving new medium. The plot of the picture demonstrated the potentials in importance as to the purchasing power of the consumer as well as giving the inside of video.

For his next picture, "Deep Is the Well", Popkin studied the TV programs and signed the winner of "Lights, Camera, Action" to the leading role. She is Christine Larson.

Luscious Blonde

Christine, a luscious blonde, will portray a cafe waitress who is in love with the town sheriff. Shelley Winters launched her meteoric career as a waitress in "Double Life" and the studio predicts great things for Christine.

Popkin feels that television should hold no bugaboos for Hollywood. He thinks that TV will augment the motion picture as radio has done in the past decade. He believes there is ample room for expansion in both of these mediums and that TV will further interest among the stay-at-homes viewing television who must eventually go to a theater to see film presentations.

ERROL GLOBE TROTTER

It appears that Errol Flynn is going to outdo Tyrone Power as a globe trotter. Flynn, currently making "The Bargain" on the French Riviera, has signed to do a picture in Japan early in 1951.

The actor did "Rocky Mountain" on location at Gallup, N. M., and before that he spent four months in India on "Kim".

Power did "Black Rose" in Morocco, "Prince of Foxes" in Italy and the republic of San Marino, and "American Guerrilla in the Philippines" in Manila.

GETS NEW TITLE

David O. Selznick's "Portrait of Jennie" did so poorly at the box office that it has been retitled "Tidal Wave" in the hopes that the pepped-up title will bring in more silver.

Joan Bennett has some nice words to say about men in hats just to get "national hat week" off to a good start: "The hat may not make the man, but it is the mark of a man who knows where he is going."

Hollywood hears that Olivia De Havilland may not make another picture until 1953. If the actress is successful in her Broadway production of "Romeo and Juliet" she intends to remain away from screen work for at least two years.

Paramount has decided to release "Warpath" to coincide with the national observance on June 25 of the 75th anniversary of the battle of the Little Big Horn when General Custer made his last stand.

Dr. John Orr To Be Leesburg Speaker

Dr. John Orr well known professor of the Bible from Westminster college will be the speaker at Youth for Christ, in the Leesburg Presbyterian church, Saturday night, October 21, at 8:00.

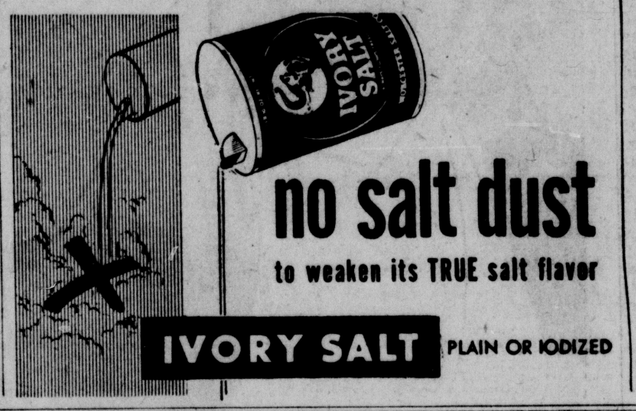

HEAVY EATERS

About 30 per cent of all Americans are overweight.

Joint Reformation Service October 29

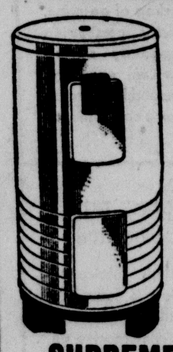

Plans are continuing to shape up for the great union Protestant effort which will be a joint Reformation service at 7:45 p.m. in First Methodist church on Sunday, Oct. 29.

A great union chorus will be under the direction of Edward Book, director of the local high school a cappella choir. The speaker will be Dr. G. Arthur Fry, of St. Luke's Lutheran church, Pittsburgh. His subject on this occasion will be "Other Little Ships."

Workers Are Returning To Pottery Jobs

Workers are being returned to their jobs at Shenango Pottery as rapidly as is possible it was said today in the offices of the company. The strike was ended Tuesday night, October 17.

Approximately 20 per cent of the employes are back at work. These include shipping department, gloss selection and maintenance workers. As rapidly as the kilns can be heated up other departments will be going back, but it will likely be a week or ten days before the plant is back on a normal schedule.

Friday, October 20 is a pay day, although production employes will have no pay coming due to time lost during the strike. A profit sharing check will be paid each employee and these checks will be distributed as follows:

Those employes who are working will get their profit sharing checks in their departments. Division one, engineering and refractories divisions will be paid in the front of the building at ten o'clock. Division two, three and the other divisions will be given their checks at eleven o'clock in the front of the building.

Insurance premiums are due on Friday, October 20. These must be paid in the insurance office. Because the production employes have no pay coming and therefore no pay deductions can be made, these premiums must be paid in the insurance office.

Those employes who cannot pay their premiums on Friday (tomorrow), will have theirs paid by the company and a double deduction will be made from the next pay check.

The company is doing this in order to prevent the insurance policies from lapsing.

Admit Red China Got Oil After War With Korea Started

(BULLETIN)

WASHINGTON, Oct. 19.—(INS)—Commerce Department officials admitted to Senate investigators today that a "considerable portion" of a 24,000 drum shipment of lubricating oil went to Red China after the start of the Korean war.

Edward Guinane, deputy chief of the Commerce Department's office of international trade, told the Senate Merchant Marine subcommittee that both American and foreign registered ships were used to deliver the oil.

He made the statement after chairman O'Conor (D) Md., commented that "it is our information 13,000 drums of that total (shipment) actually went to Communist China as late as August of this year."

Gives Man Choice Of Getting Out Of Town, Or Workhouse

Mayor John F. Haven in police court today promised Frank Weiskopf of Ellwood City a four months "residence" in the Allegheny County Workhouse if Weiskopf was not out of the city within a few hours.

He was arrested by city police last night for loitering on Public Square.

According to Mayor Haven Weiskopf has proved a nuisance here, having been repeatedly arrested for intoxication and on other charges and upon one occasion, Weiskopf struck a policeman while the officer was making this arrest.

The mayor said plainly he was tired of police "having to gather you up, hence if you are not out of the city by 11 a.m. today you will be sent to the workhouse for four months."

Cut In Production Of Potatoes Asked By Government

WASHINGTON, Oct. 19.—(INS)—The Agriculture Department asked farmers today to cut their potato production by 92 million bushels next year.

The department told farmers that the nation can use only 355 million bushels of potatoes in 1951, compared to this year's huge crop of 427 million bushels.

Potatoes next year will be grown without government acreage restrictions and price supports. The government, therefore, can only suggest to farmers how many potatoes they should grow to avoid dumping millions of bushels.

The department asked farmers in most states to cut back next year's planting for a national average cut of 85 per cent.

Yankees Start Shopping Around

Cast Eyes Upon Syracuse Chiefs

NEW YORK, Oct. 19.—(INS)—Baseball's most powerful dynasty, and that would have to be the World Champion New York Yankees, is shopping around for some future assistance.

And quicker than you can say "destiny," the Bombers may have landed a new addition to their depleting supply lines.

The Yankees, a club accused of establishing squatter's rights on American League honors, realized that they had to make some sort of move to make up for their loss of an unofficial tieup with Oakland on the Pacific coast and sale of their Newark franchise.

So yesterday they apparently made the move.

The Yankees released their co-Farm Director Gene Martin to become general manager and vice president of the Syracuse chiefs in the International League.

Martin now becomes associated with an independent operator in President and Owner William F. Hoffman of the chiefs. In order to take the job Martin had to sever his connections with the bombers.

Hoffman has acted as his own general manager in recent years, but now will depend on Martin to do the job. And it's a good bet that Martin will be doing business with the Yankees.

The chiefs were managed last season by Bruno Betzel, a former Yankee farm manager. They have a working agreement with the Cincinnati Reds which expires November 1.

Hair Appeal Men Get Fame Rating

HOLLYWOOD—(INS)—The eight men with the most "hair appeal" have been listed for a niche in the hall of fame by hair expert Patricia Stenz.

The eight best are:

Cornel Wilde for the healthiest any best groomed head of hair. Rory Calhoun and Roy Rogers in second and third place. John Derek for the tighest curls and Tony Martin for the best hair waves.

Leopold Stokowski, the 68-year-old musical whiz, was listed as having the most hair for the most years.

Nicest blond hair belonged to Sterling Hayden in Miss Stenz opinion with Kirk Douglas in second place.

Erie Academy Has All-Senior Starting Lineup

Friday Night's Visitors Use Double Wing-Back

Erie Academy high school will field an all-star senior starting eleven against New Castle Friday night at Taggart stadium. The visiting squad will include 24 seniors in all—most of them veterans of one or two years.

More startling yet is the possibility that New Castle fans may see an old football system put back into use after many years in the mothbags.

Defeat East 26 to 0

Coach Jim Hyde of the visitors pulled out the double wing-back formation last Saturday night against Erie East and got satisfactory results as the Academy Lions rolled to a 26-0 win.

SERIES RECORD

1926—19—New Castle	Erie Academy—	6
1931—14—New Castle	Erie Academy—	6
1934— 0—New Castle	Erie Academy—13
1946— 7—New Castle	Erie Academy—	0
1949—12—New Castle	Erie Academy—	7
52		12

New Castle, won 4, lost 1.

The double wing-back formation one of the leading weapons of football elevens all over the nation in the 30's, has been practically extinct in the past ten years, with most teams switching over to the more popular T-formation.

Hyde was one of the leading double wing-back proponents in the 30's and led Erie East to several city titles with the two wing-back systems. The last time he used the system, before last Saturday night, was in 1945.

This will be Hyde's second crack at a Bridenbaugh coached team since coming to Erie Academy—in his first game against the Red Hurricanes last year the Canes were extended all the way in order to edge out a 12-7 win. Hyde coached three or four Erie East teams that have met the Red Hurricanes.

Canes Hard At Work

Meanwhile the New Castle squad is hard at work preparing for this game. Dante DeFalco has not been working out at all this week but may be in uniform Friday night. Lee Richeal has been holding down his right tackle spot in practice sessions.

Bob Shellogg is still wearing his arm in a sling and probably won't be ready to play again for two or three weeks. Torrance Rankin and Bob Cupido will be ineligible for the Academy game. Cupido has missed a lot of school because of illness and has fallen behind in his work. Rankin has also fallen behind in his school work.

HURRICANE BREEZES

Erie Academy has been primarily a ground team this year but has been capable of taking to the air when necessary... Second string halfback Willie Baker is probably the fastest runner in the Erie public schools...Joe Marinelli is back in uniform again giving it another whirl...Attendance at the Farrell game last week was 10,471...Ray Latsko scored both TDs against Erie Academy last year.

County Referees Elect Officers

Lawrence County Basketball Referees Association, (holders of PIAA cards) met last night at the YMCA, and elected officers for the year.

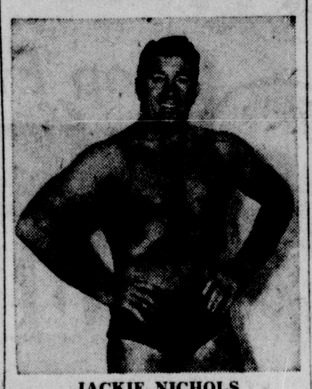

Those elected were: president, George "Pop" Adams; vice president, Marvin Kuth; secretary-treasurer, Bill Wallace; and directors: "Rags" Gennock and John Polenick.

The next meeting is scheduled for Oct. 25 at the YMCA and will consist of discussions on new rules and interpretations. All those who plan to take their Official Tests in November are advised to attend.

Yankees-Packers Battle Tonight

NEW YORK, Oct. 19.—(INS)—The New York Yanks, co-leaders of the National Football league's National division, ruled two-touchdown favorites for their game tonight with the Green Bay Packers.

Wrestles Poffo

JACKIE NICHOLS

Jackie Nichols of Irish, Scot and Indian parentage, takes on Angelo Poffo in the main grappling event in The Arena, next Thursday. Previous to entering wrestling he held Golden Gloves Middleweight Boxing title. He captured the light-heavy mat title from Red Beery then grew heavy and now hopes to some day win the heavyweight grappling championship. One of his recent bouts was on television with Ace Freeman in Chicago.

Titan Booters Take On Thiel

Play At Greenville In Second Outing

Westminster College soccermen swing back into action tomorrow afternoon at 3 p. m. against the Thiel College Tomcats at Greenville. It will be the first contest for the Westminster booters since nipping Edinboro Teachers 3-2 two weeks ago.

It will also be the final polishing-up chance for the Westminster Titans. They meet two powerful soccer squads, Slippery Rock and Frostburg, Md., Teachers, next week. Slippery Rock's Rockets, who play here next Tuesday, have fashioned one of the best postwar records in the nation, with 36 victories and four ties in their first 44 outings.

Westminster Coach Harold Burry will make one change in his starting lineup for this one. Paul Fenwick, inside right performer, has been recalled by the Army. Tommy Wilson, Kane, will move over to Fenwick's spot and Don Hartranft, Chambersburg senior, will get his first starting chance, at outside right.

Thiel split in its first two appearances this season. The Tommies lost to Kenyon of Ohio, 2-1, then topped the same Edinboro eleven, 3-0, at Edinboro.

Fusari Stops Tony Pellone

CHICAGO, Oct. 19.—(INS)—Charlie Fusari, one defeat avenged by a TKO over "tough Tony" Pellone in Chicago stadium, was on the prowl for another despoiler today—one Rocky Graziano who knocked out the former New Jersey milkman a year ago.

Fusari's 10th round technical knockout over Pellone before 3,924 last night put him back in contention as a leading challenger for the welterweight crown still worn by Ray "Sugar" Robinson.

The New Jersey blond bomber battered Pellone to the canvas in the ninth and put him back there in the 10th before referee Johnny Behr stopped the bout with 1:44 of the round history.

After the fight Fusari said he wants a return match with Graziano and International Boxing club officials, eager to oblige when it means good box office, said they plan such a bout in December.

Fusari weighed 148 last night to Pellone's 146½.

The gross gate was $19,205 and the net $14,775.

Shenango, Bessemer, Weekend Hosts, Ellwood City, Union, To Play Away

Shenango's Wildcats, starved for victory since their opener on Sept. 9, hope to feast on some part of Hampton township Friday afternoon at Shenango.

Hampton Coach, Fridley will bring a T formation team for the 2:00 p. m. matinee.

Eddie Nahas, Shenango coach for the first time this season, has experimented with the T, and may use it to add deception to his attack.

The Hampton Indians will bring a two and three record to Shenango. The Wildcats will enter the game with but one victory in five games.

Fred Duckworth, will be moved back into the line and Wanatosky to fullback for the Wildcats. Coach Nahas has been alternating these boys all season.

Ellwood City will travel to Ambridge Friday night for their "game" of the season. The high riding Bridgers are undefeated and officially the top club in the Beaver Valley. "Moe" Rubenstein, Ambridge coach, could probably claim out of valley honors if necessary.

The valley team has scored 136 points in five games to the opposition's 29. Vandergrift, the teams' only common foe was beaten by Ambridge 46 to 7, and tied by Ellwood, 13 to 13.

The contest will be strictly T. Both teams use the quick opening type offense. Ellwood won from Ambridge last year, 20 to 12.

Bessemer will be home Saturday night to the winningist team in the WPIAL.

The Bell Township Lions have won every one of their last 19 games and this season have been virtually without competition in defeating six teams, and running up 259 points to the opposition's 19. Their closest game came in the opener.

Union will travel to Aliquippa to play under the lights, Saturday night, against Hopewell.

The Scotties have now played .500 ball this season, splitting even in six tries.

The Vikings have won but one game, losing three and tied two. Mars, a mutual opponent, was beaten by Hopewell, 25 to 19, and by Union 12 to 0.

Connie Mack Steps Down, Dykes Named As Manager

By FRANK J. BURKE
(I. N. S. Sports Writer)

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 19—Connie Mack ended his managerial career today on a note of apology that was swiftly buried under assurances of esteem from a baseball men and fans all over the nation.

After naming third-base Coach Jimmy Dykes as his successor and farm system director Arthur H. Ehlers as general manager of the Philadelphia Athletics, Mack said:

"I am sorry I could not give Philadelphia all it expected. Thanks for keeping me 50 years as manager of the Athletics."

Five World Champions

But up in Baseball's Hall of Fame at Cooperstown, N. Y., there hangs a plaque bearing the bronze image of the 87-year-old diamond wizard. And underneath it are printed the words:

"Connie Mack: A star catcher, but famed more as manager of the Philadelphia Athletics since 1901. Winner of nine pennants and five world championships."

Connie told International News Service yesterday he was quitting "not because I am too old," but because "I feel the fans want me to resign."

Mack was thinking specifically of last season, his golden jubilee year, when the A's finished in the American League cellar for the 17th time.

Only 310,129 turned out for the A's home games at Shibe Park, while more than a million and a quarter fans watched the National League champion Phillies at the same ball field.

Recent misfortunes, however, could not dim the lustre of Mack's achievements both on the diamond and in behalf of good sportsmanship in 68 years of professional baseball.

Many an oldster throughout the country recalls such mack-developed stars as Jimmy Foxx, Al Simmons, Rube Waddell, Lefty Grove, and home-run Baker.

They concur with the words of Ford Frick, president of the National League who remarked: "The passing of Mr. Mack from the active phase of the game represents the passing of a baseball era."

Agreement was universal, also, with the comment of Will Harridge, president of the American League:

"The American League and all baseball forever will be in Mr. Mack's debt for the half-century of outstanding service he has given the game. We send him every best wish."

Jimmy Dykes

Steelers-Eagles To Tangle Sunday

PITTSBURGH, Oct. 19.—The Pittsburgh Steelers, probably the greatest defensive team in football, face a gigantic job on Sunday when the Philadelphia Eagles, the National League titleholders, invade Forbes Field for a crucial clash in the league's championship race. Kickoff was scheduled for 2 p.m. EST.

Both clubs come up to the contest with records that portend the toughest struggle in Pittsburgh this season. The Eagles, after dropping the opener to the Cleveland Browns, have eliminated all other opposition, while the Steelers gained renewed prestige by knocking off the unbeaten New York Giants last Sunday.

Schaffer Resigns Job With Indians

CLEVELAND, Oct. 19.—(INS)—Rudie Schaffer resigned today as business manager of the Cleveland Indians.

Schaffer, who came to Cleveland in mid-summer 1946 with Bill Veeck, said he has no definite plans for the future but added that he is "entertaining several possibilities."

Semi-Pro Team To Open Season At Meadville

New Castle's first semi-pro football team in several years will make its initial appearance of the season Sunday afternoon, when it meets the Meadville Zippers at Meadville.

The local team, coached by Tippy Richards and Mike Roussos has been working out for about three weeks and intends to play three or four games, including several home appearances.

Among the players on the team are Mike Roussos, Andy Semansky, Jack Gerdie, Lyle Fox, Jack Schantz, John Izzo, Tony Cialella Eugene Pace, Ralph Tommelleo Tom Parou, Pete Tedesco, Antonelli, Sammy Caiazzo, Eddie Jacobs, John Pace, Earl Sallie, Jim Fair and Butch Cavarecci.

The Meadville Zippers have been in operation as a semi-pro outfit for three years and use the winged-T formation. They are coached by John Galle.

Honus Wagner, the greatest shortstop of them all, thinks Pittsburgh Pirate rookie Danny O'Connell could be a "great, great player".

Major League All-Stars Delight Fans, Win 11-5

Slightly over 1,200 dyed-in-the-wool baseball fans sat in the stands at Flaherty Memorial field last night and cheered their favorite big league ball players, as Danny Litwhiler led his major league All-Stars against the City-County All-Stars, winning 11 to 5.

Nobody expected the young local stars to defeat the major leaguers, but for eight innings it was an interesting 3-3 exhibition game that saw the big leaguers making sparkling stops and throws.

The City-County All-Stars plus two from Sharon, Steve Magula and Walt Chuba, used a total of 25 players in the game, eight hurlers. John Razzano and Jim Martin, the latter of Bessemer, comanaged the local stars.

Kennedy-Shantz Pitch

Litwhiler picked Montia Kennedy, the big New York Giants southpaw, as the starting hurler and he gave way to Bobby Shantz of the Athletics in the eighth.

Leading the hitting for the major leaguers were the veteran Danny Murtaugh and Del Ennis the latter a Philadelphia Phillies "Whiz Kid"; each had three hits. Sibi Sisti of the Boston Braves had two hits.

Samsa and Wilber "Goog" Anderson (starting hurler), the two Bessemer stars, had triples off Kennedy and along with Dale Brown of Wampum led the city-county team at bat.

Praise Flaherty Field

The three most popular young stars in the major league lineup mostly bothered by the young autograph hunters were — Danny O'Connell of the Pirates, Del Ennis and Carl Furillo, the latter a Brooklyn Dodger star. Good natured Danny Murtaugh had a lot of fun, as did Ron Northey.

All of the big leaguers had plenty of praise for Flaherty Field, saying "This is one of the finest playing fields that we have had the pleasure to see, on our tour and for that matter several of the big league diamonds cannot compare with Flaherty Field," and of course the old veteran groundskeeper Carl "Buffalo" Cialella, who did a swell job of getting the field ready, beamed with pride.

The game was a presentation by the New Castle Citizens Baseball Inc., of which Al Scarazzo is president. It was a gratifying turnout for this late in the season.

It was an evening well spent with the stars of our national pastime.

Eddie Mayor Will Coach Red Sox

TOLEDO, O., Oct. 19.—(INS)—Eddie Mayo, manager of the Toledo Mudhens in the American Association for the past two seasons will serve next year as coach under Steve O'Neill, manager of the Boston Red Sox.

Mayo was a coach and very close friend of O'Neill when the latter piloted the Detroit Tigers.

Either Jack Tighe, who led the Flint, Mich., club to the Central league title last season, or Gene DeSautels, manager of the Williamsport Eastern league team will be named to succeed Mayo at Toledo.

HERE and THERE IN SPORTS LAND

ABE GREEN, head of the National Boxing Association, answers the question: "What is wrong with boxing?" by stating "Television". He said that if they keep getting along together the way they have been for the past few years, boxing will drop dead within five years. He explains that before radio and television commitments made it necessary for hungry promoters to sky-rocket unprepared youngsters into main events, it took three, four or five years to develop a genuine main event fighter. "Today a 'kid' who gets a few wins and flashes some style, is shunted into a television event, is knocked out, and his light is quenched before it ever begins to sparkle," Green said. He points out that baseball and football players are developed on sandlots, and that fighters develop from small clubs, where they learn their way up the fistic ladder, the hard way. The youth cannot even learn the 'business' under a careful tutor. He has to grow up in the small clubs, Green explains.

Here & There agrees with Green's statement that a fighter must learn the hard way, through capable instruction and battles in small clubs. Only through actual ring combat, can one gain battle experience and become qualified to thwart the efforts of an opponent. Here & There, for decades, has maintained that boxing is practically the only sport in which one may participate, although he is wholly lacking in experience.

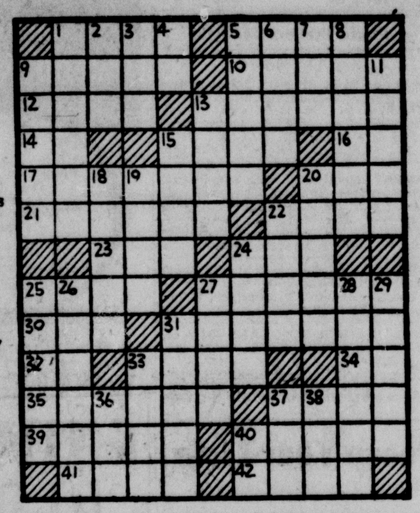

HAVING BEEN WARNED by Phil Bridenbaugh, coach of New Castle high that Erie Academy is the most formidable eleven yet to be met by the Red and Black, indications point to a tight game which may be won by either team with a small score. Bridenbaugh rates E-A stronger than Farrell which lost to Academy 20-12, while Farrell caved in during the second half to Na-Ca-Hi, 20-13. Erie Academy has defeated all opponents, excepting Ambridge, losing 19-6, and Aliquippa, 6-0. . . . Sam Neyman, Sycamore Street, owns a membership in the "I Caught a 'Northerner's' Club", having hooked a pike in the Allegheny river, at Reno, 24 inches in length. He used a 2½-inch minnow as bait. . . . Lawrence County Sportsman's association proposes to raise more pheasant chicks next year than they did this season, judging from the decision to increase the size of pens, which when enlarged will hold 300 birds. The pens now in use hold 100 birds.

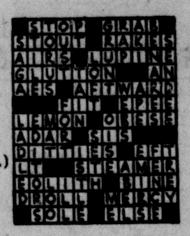

DEER BREED NORMALLY from October to December and fawn are born in May and June. How many are born depends upon the food available. Fawns lose their spots when five months old. The color of a deer's coat change from a short, reddish summer color to a dark grey heavy winter coat. A buck is mature at 19 months. Enemies of deer are persons who pick up what they believe to be "orphans, wildcats and foxes, dogs, fires, disease and starvation. Deer eat grasses, ferns and other green herbaceous plants, or grazing. Primarily, deer are browsing animals and eat tender twigs, buds, leaves, acorns and nuts. Browse that will permit the growth of an animal and the maintenance of nearly so, of the body weight during the winter. Such browse is provided by maples, apples, white cedar, biburnums, oaks, aspen, birches (except black birch), ash, hickory, etc. in proper balance," The Pennsylvania Game News reports in its September 'Deer' edition.

Joe Louis Meets Brion November 29

CHICAGO, Oct. 19—(INS)—The Joe Louis story which supposedly ended with the defeat of the former heavyweight champion and the same old moral—they never come back—has another chapter today.

It's entitled "The Comeback from the Comeback That Fizzled." It begins at the Chicago Stadium November 29 against Argentina's Cesar Brion.

Then, Louis says, there will be two or three other fights and a challenge to new Heavyweight Champion Ezzard Charles for a rematch.

The second of this extra chapter is dramatic for Chicago is where Louis fought as an amateur in the golden gloves and where he knocked out Jim Braddock to win the prize ring's greatest title.

The ancient Medes and Persians cultivated spinach.

New Record For Pouring Of Concrete

What is believed to have set a new state record for one shift concrete pouring time on highway construction, was done on the Butler Highway east of New Castle, Wednesday, it is reported to The News.

In one shift pouring time of 11 hours, 4,732 feet of one lane concrete, 11 feet wide and 9 inches deep, was poured on the route, on the Rose Point end of the construction job.

Previous record is reported to have been 4,625 feet of 8-inch concrete, made about 10 years ago.

The work on the Butler Highway job is being done by the V. N. Holderman & Sons, Inc., of Columbus, O., but now having resident headquarters along the road near Princeton.

The work done yesterday is on the third lane of the highway, and it is expected that work of putting down the concrete can be completed in 15 more pouring days.

It is possible that the new road may be open for traffic early in December, it was stated.

New York Stocks

Stock Market Is Irregular

NEW YORK, Oct. 19.—(INS)—The stock market faltered today in the face of profit-taking, following two sessions in a row of sharply higher prices. A few issues, however, continued to show strength.

Pullman was a standout performer, advancing two points to 48 on declaration of a $2 extra dividend. Other buoyant specialties included J. I. Case which was up 1¼ at 54½, and International Minerals up 1 at 53¾.

Among the old-line pivotal favorites, U. S. Steel was unchanged at 41, DuPont was up ⅛ at 81½, Bethlehem Steel up ¼ at 44¼, General Motors off ¼ at 52, General Electric up ⅜ at 49, Westinghouse up ¼ at 33¾ and Chrysler up ⅛ at 80.

The bond market was mixed with profit-taking noted in some of the recently strong rails.

Cotton featured commodities with a rise of $2.55 a bale. Wheat was up ⅜ and corn was off ⅝.
